

GOP Showdown Tonight; Nixon Opens Stretch Drive

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon headed down the stretch today in his quest for the Republican presidential nomination, by all indications a good bet to take the prize on the first ballot.

His chief challenger, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, sought to block the former vice president's path with the No. 1 argument of anti-Nixon forces—that Nixon couldn't win in November.

"To pick a man who can't win would be a tragedy for the country," Rockefeller told newsmen after opening his 11th hour drive with an appeal to 120 delegates and alternates from 13 western states.

The Associated Press, in a nose count some 12 hours before tonight's fateful balloting, found Nixon with 615 first-round votes, Rockefeller with 270, and the third man in the race, Go. Ronald Reagan of California with 177.

Another 195 delegates were lined up behind favorite sons, 75 were uncommitted, and one stood alone for New York City's Mayor John V. Lindsay. Needed for victory: 667.

Nixon exuded confidence. "We're going to win," he said cheerily on the eve of the balloting. Charts posted by his aides in a hotel headquarters flashed the same optimism. "More than 700 votes," they read.

Rockefeller saw in all this enthusiasm "evidence of cold war strategy." The Nixon people, he said, were trying to give delegates the impression Nixon has the nomination in the bag.

"It just is not true," the governor declared.

Reagan, meanwhile, pushed ahead with a campaign that put the accent on salesmanship and good cheer. He was being low key.

Asked how many votes he had, the onetime actor replied: "I'd love to find out." Asked if he would really like to be President, he replied with more emphasis: "You bet I'd like it."

Though there have been reports Reagan has been gathering strength, particularly among more conservative delegates, his aides pegged the governor's delegate strength at about 200—a figure they gave a week ago.

To win, the Rockefeller and Reagan people have to keep the flags of favorite sons flying high, especially on the first ballot.

Nixon's chances for a first-ballot victory could hinge on whatever switches might take place if he closed in on 667 as the clerk completed the state-by-state tally.

At completion of the first roll call individual delegates—or whole delegations for that matter—could ask to change their vote in the hope of being singled out for later political recognition as supplying the winner with the margin necessary for nomination.

The delegates, harassed in previous sessions by security restrictions and confused by candidate claims, get their opportunity to erupt into a traditional show of enthusiasm with tonight's nominating and seconding speeches.

Circleville City Councilman Dr. David Goldschmidt delivered a prepared statement Tuesday at council in which he pointed out the need for curtailing progress in city government or increasing taxes.

Councilman Goldschmidt called upon the citizens of Circleville to express their opinions on this matter. He urged them to contact the members of council telling them how they feel.

He explained that it required money to implement the recommendations, and council was limited in the amount of funds it had to spend.

HERE is Goldschmidt's statement on council floor in its entirety.

The finance committee has consulted with Mr. Dave Detra, the examiner assigned to Circleville, and with Mr. Mark Armstrong, a state auditor who resides in Circleville, and both persons have said that the policy of holding a reserve to cover expenses from December 31 to April of the following year was advisable and that from the

Council Approves Mini Bus Line

Circleville City Council passed two appropriation ordinances and two resolutions Tuesday.

The city fathers passed an ordinance granting an exclusive franchise to the Circleville Mini Bus Lines. John Robinson is the manager of the proposed bus company.

Robinson said he expects to start operation within two or three weeks. The franchise was granted for a three-year period. He will begin operation with two 13 passenger busses.

One of the resolutions, authorizing the city service director to enter into a contract to build curbs and gutters on E. High St., was passed over the objections of Councilman Harold Clifton and Councilman Boyd Horn.

HORN first voted for the resolution after rules of council were suspended and a motion made to pass the action after the second reading.

About ten minutes after voting for the passage, Horn instructed council clerk Robert Shadley to change his vote to no.

Clifton abstained from voting. Abstainance from voting is considered a no vote, Shadley said. He informed Horn he could not change his vote after a measure had been passed.

Council president Joseph Bell was then instructed to call City Solicitor Charles Hosterman to see if a councilman could change his vote.

Clifton opposed the resolution because he stated the city at one time gave Clifton Auto Parts Inc. permission to construct a cement ramp in front of the business on E. High St. to facilitate parking.

Clifton said the present ramp would in no way interfere with paving of High Street. There are other properties on the street where curbs and gutters must be constructed, but owners have agreed to let the city build them, Councilman David Crawford said.

THE other resolution passed authorized the clerk to send county commissioners a "letter of intent" to join the Pickaway County Solid Waste Disposal District.

Clifton voted against the measure on the basis that he had not had time to study the resolution. It was presented on the floor of council by Councilman Noble Barr. Clifton stated that too much had legislation is passed because of hasty action.

The appropriation ordinances transferring funds from the general fund were in the amount of $250 to Municipal Court to purchase supplies, and $150 to clerk of council for expenses in sending registered letters to property owners informing them they would have to build curbs and gutters or have them built by the city and placed on the tax duplicate.

The council session was lengthy last night, but most of the time was taken up in reports of councilmen and city officials.

Mayor Richard Gerhardt had eight recommendations to council which were read by the clerk. The recommendations were:

That council review all employees wages, number of employees, sick leave, vacations, fringe benefits and overtime pay schedules.

THAT refuse and trash collection regulations be established to maintain a safe and sanitary collection system in the city;

That no domestic animals be restricted from being maintained within a specified distance of a habited dwelling;

That Council authorize the utilities board, the utilities manager and the mayor to investigate and make application for interest free planning loans for the purpose of making the plans to allow the city sewerage treatment facility to meet the new water pollution standards;

That council enlarge the authority of the safety director for regulations and control of traffic and parking within the city as allowed by recently passed statutes;

That modern regulations governing the safety and maintenance of public used transportation vehicles be enacted to insure the safety of the citizens of Circleville.

That council delegate the authority to cause the removal of obstructions to the free passage of the streets to the ESCAPE — Sheriff Dwight Radcliff holds the tool (a leg from a steam radiator) used by two juveniles to hack through the heavy brick walls of the Pickaway County Jail. Their escape through the walls is believed to be the first from the local jail. This photo was taken in the storeroom next to the youths' cell.

Youths Chisel Through Thick Brick Walls

Two juveniles escaped from the third-floor minimum security section of the Pickaway County Jail between 10:30 p.m. Tuesday and 5:30 a.m. today.

The youths, identified by Sheriff Dwight Radcliff as Allen Scott Billups, 17, of Ft. Gay, W. Va. and Larry Donald Robertson, 16, of Cleveland, chiseled through the heavy brick walls of the third floor of the jail and climbed down bedsheets to freedom.

The breakout was discovered by Clyde Brigner at 5:26 a.m. Brigner is a jail trusty. He was taking trash out to be picked up when he saw the sheets hanging down from the hole in the wall of the jail.

The Frank Vlack Co. of Columbus has been replacing windows on the east side of the third floor of the jail. The two youths apparently took advantage of the noise made by the construction workers to chisel the mortar from between the bricks and remove them.

THEY further concealed their activities by pushing their double deck bunk against the wall where they were working, Sheriff Radcliff said.

The youths chiseled through a 9 1/2-inch brick wall from their cell, located at the west front of the cell block, into a store room just to the rear of their quarters.

From there, they removed the bricks from a 19 1/2-inch thick outer wall, leaving the debris in the storeroom.

They ripped their bed sheets into 6-inch wide strips, tied them together and lowered themselves to the ground.

The hole through which they escaped measured about 12 inches high and 20 inches wide at the outside opening.

However, they had only about a 12 1/2-inch square opening through which to crawl. Although the two youths made it safely to the ground, sheriff's deputies were able to yank the improvised rope down with ease.

CONSTRUCTION workers, the trusty on the third floor and prisoners on the first and second floors all told the sheriff they had neither seen nor heard anything unusual.

The door to the cell is a solid door with a small opening through which the prisoners meals are served. The door to the storeroom is also solid and has no openings.

7 Police Wounded In Chicago Riot

HARVEY, Ill. (AP) — Sporadic gunfire wounded seven policemen and a woman during a disturbance caused by Negro youths, and scores of law enforcement officers moved in early today to secure the troubled area.

State, county and local police officers, helmeted and heavily armed, massed at food store parking lot waiting for action but the area was calm hours after the initial outburst late Tuesday night.

Mayor James Haines of Harvey imposed a curfew until dawn in the south suburban Chicago community which has grown increasingly tense since a police officer shot a fleeing Negro youth June 30.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict Tuesday of justifiable homicide in the fatal shooting of the Chicago youth.

Haines, who is white, said five police officers were wounded from a single shotgun blast as they dispersed a crowd of 75 to 100 Negro youths who were throwing rocks at passing cars and shouting epithets.

He blamed the disorder, which started late Tuesday night, on the oppressive heat. "On evenings like this it's more comfortable to stand on a street corner," he said.

The disturbance centered in a four-block-square area near the borderline of Harvey and Dixmoor, suburbs 17 miles south of downtown Chicago with a population of 35,000.

The mayor said the Negro youths massed at a car wash and became abusive. Police moved in and ordered the youths to scatter. They remained in the general area for a time and several shots were fired.

Fourteen persons were arrested, two on charges of mob action and 12 for violation of a curfew that was imposed at 1:30 a.m. Police said those arrested ranged in age from 18 to 22.

A spokesman for Ingalls Hospital said none of the seven policemen—three from Harvey and four from neighboring Dolton—was critically injured. Three officers were admitted for treatment. One officer was shot in the face as he patrolled the area in a squad car.

Three other persons were treated for minor injuries and released, including a Negro woman, who said she was struck by two police bullets while officers were "chasing the rioters and shooting at them."

Ike's Condition Stable, But Doctors Not Yet Cheerful

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army doctors said today the heart attack suffered by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower Tuesday was a major one equal in severity to Eisenhower's earlier major attacks. They said the outlook was "guarded," or unpredictable.

Doctors of Walter Reed Army Hospital said so in answer to questions submitted by newsmen.

But in a formal medical bulletin they said they were "satisfied with his current progress," and that he had spent a comfortable night.

In answer to questions, they said Eisenhower is receiving oxygen continuously as a treatment.

The doctors had been asked this question: "How does the general's present heart attack compare in severity with is previous ones, especially the attack of June 15?"

The answer was: "Equal severity."

Eisenhower has suffered five earlier heart attacks, several of them including the last previous one on June 15 rated as major.

The doctors replied "negative" and "not pertinent" to questions whether they had considered a heart transplant for Eisenhower, and whether a person with his history of heart trouble would be an eligible candidate for a new heart.

As to the outlook in Eisenhower's case, the doctors' reply was: "The prognosis in the early days following any myocardial infarction is 'guarded.' The word 'guarded' means that in this early period after any heart attack, the outcome is unpredictable."

A morning medical bulletin from Walter Reed Army Hospital said:

"Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has spent a comfortable night following his recent heart attack which occurred at 0615 hours (6:15 a.m. EDT) yesterday morning."

"His vital signs have remained stable. The doctors report that they are satisfied with his current progress."

Vital signs refer to the general's blood pressure, heart rate and breathing rate.

Doctors say it could take days to assess the heart damage caused by the latest attack.

Private physicians told The Associated Press diagnosis of Eisenhower's attack is complicated by the fact that he has had so many—six since 1955.

They said previously affected (Continued on Page 18)

The four-day regional convention of the denomination opens Thursday and runs through Sunday. Today 600 members of the church, all volunteers, were at work at the ball park, erecting tents and other installations.

Stokes Announces Police Programs

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mayor Carl B. Stokes Tuesday announced an intensive educational program for the Cleveland Police Department which will probably include courses in police-community relations and guerrilla warfare.

Stokes said $91,000 needed for the program would come from a $256,615 grant made Tuesday by the Ford Foundation to the Greater Cleveland associated Foundation.

A campaign to put 500 more policemen on city streets by early next year was also announced by Stokes.

The finance committee will therefore keep a reserve of $30,000 and will allocate monies from this amount for emergencies only.

The finance committee, composed of Harold Clifton, Keith Wagner and myself, has on hand $39,000 in unappropriated funds. We are fully aware that the entire $39,000 could be spent this year and that an advance could be on the next year's first tax distribution, but this is not good business and we do not propose to borrow on future income.

We will appropriate the $9,000 as needed. We are also aware that unexpended budgeted money is returned to the General Fund and may be expended, but this is an unknown entity and cannot be depended upon.

As you are all aware, the Mayor keeps flooding Council with a steady flow of recommendations but cost estimates are not included. In fact, most of these recommendations have been before past Councils only to fall by the wayside for lack of funds and with only $9,000 the present Council cannot see it's way clear to enacting

Rhodes Still Mum On Role Ohio To Play Tonight

By DON BANDY
 Associated Press Writer
 MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Gov. James Allen Rhodes continues to keep his own counsel on what ultimate role he and his powerful 58-vote Ohio delegation will play in selecting tonight the Republican presidential candidate.

The 58-year-old governor has refused to budge from his favorite son role, making it a point not to divulge his preference in the power struggle among the three major candidates, Richard M. Nixon, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Because of this, Rhodes has been called the key to the nomination and the man of the hour. Others say he's trying to play kingmaker. But whatever he's called, all the candidates have been wooing, pursuing and courting him.

Tonight Rhodes will be nominated for the presidency by his followers in the Ohio delegation, with all the trappings of a serious candidate.

The Ohioans have flooded Miami Beach hotels with "Rhodes for President" buttons, banners, balloons and literature. They are geared for a huge demonstration on the floor tonight when Rhodes is nominated by Dr. John Millett, chancellor of the Ohio Board of Regents.

"We decided months ago to come to Miami Beach uncommitted and that's just what we have done," Rhodes says in explaining why he has so far not come out for any certain candidate. Fifty-six delegates have made it clear they will not abandon Rhodes as favorite son, but the remaining two probably will go for Nixon.

Rhodes insistently denies ambitions for national office, including the vice presidency. Some observers feel that Rhodes may bargain for power in choosing the vice-presidential nominee, but is not seeking the post himself.

Youths Chisel Through Thick Brick Walls

Two juveniles escaped from the third-floor minimum security section of the Pickaway County Jail between 10:30 p.m. Tuesday and 5:30 a.m. today.

The youths, identified by Sheriff Dwight Radcliff as Allen Scott Billups, 17, of Ft. Gay, W. Va. and Larry Donald Robertson, 16, Cleveland, chiseled through the heavy brick walls of the third floor of the jail and climbed down bedsheets to freedom.

The breakout was discovered by Clyde Brigner at 5:26 a.m. Brigner is a jail trustee. He was taking trash out to be picked up when he saw the sheets hanging down from the hole in the wall of the jail.

The Frank Vlack Co. of Columbus has been replacing windows on the east side of the third floor of the jail. The two youths apparently took advantage of the noise made by the construction workers to chisel the mortar from between the bricks and remove them.

THEY further concealed their activities by pushing their double deck bunk against the wall where they were working, Sheriff Radcliff said.

The youths chiseled through a 9 1/2-inch brick wall from their cell, located at the west front of the cell block, into a store room just to the rear of their quarters.

From there, they removed the bricks from a 19 1/2-inch thick outer wall, leaving the debris in the storeroom.

They ripped their bed sheets into 6-inch wide strips, tied them together and lowered themselves to the ground.

The hole through which they escaped measured about 12 inches high and 20 inches wide at the outside opening.

However, they had only about a 12 1/2-inch square opening through which to crawl. Although the two youths made it safely to the ground, sheriff's deputies were able to yank the improvised rope down with ease.

CONSTRUCTION workers, the trustee on the third floor and prisoners on the first and second floors all told the sheriff they had never seen nor heard anything unusual.

But in a formal medical bulletin they said they were "satisfied with his current progress," and that he had spent a comfortable night.

In answer to questions, they said Eisenhower is receiving oxygen continuously as a treatment.

The doctors had been asked this question: "How does the general's present heart attack compare in severity with is previous ones, especially the attack of June 15?"

The answer was: "Equal severity."

Eisenhower has suffered five earlier heart attacks, several of them including the last previous one on June 15 rated as major.

The doctors replied "negative" and "not pertinent" to questions whether they had considered a heart transplant for Eisenhower, and whether a person with his history of heart trouble would be an eligible candidate for a new heart.

As to the outlook in Eisenhower's case, the doctors' reply was: "The prognosis in the early days following any myocardial infarction is 'guarded.' The word 'guarded' means that in this early period after any heart attack, the outcome is unpredictable."

A morning medical bulletin from Walter Reed Army Hospital said:

"Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has spent a comfortable night following his recent heart attack which occurred at 0615 hours (6:15 a.m. EDT) yesterday morning."

"His vital signs have remained stable. The doctors report that they are satisfied with his current progress."

Vital signs refer to the general's blood pressure, heart rate and breathing rate.

Doctors say it could take days to assess the heart damage caused by the latest attack.

Private physicians told The Associated Press diagnosis of Eisenhower's attack is complicated by the fact that he has had so many—six since 1955.

They said previously affected

U.S. Freeing 14 Viet Reds, Harriman Says

16th Session Of Paris Talks Under Way

PARIS (AP) — The United States told North Vietnam at the Paris peace talks today that 14 captured North Vietnamese seamen will be released. Last week three U.S. fliers, released by the North Vietnamese, came out of Hanoi.

The North Vietnamese handled their release of the airmen mainly through the peace talks and the United States responded using the same channel with an obvious interest in tying the goodwill gestures into the search for peace.

The peace probes themselves were conducted in today's meeting—the 16th session.

Ambassador Ha Van Lau of North Vietnam spurned a recent demand by Secretary of State Dean Rusk for some authoritative word from Hanoi on how North Vietnam would respond to a total halt in the U.S. bombing.

Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, going into the conference, said North Vietnam had infiltrated 30,000 troops into the South in July and failed to show any of the restraint asked by President Johnson.

Ambassador Xuan Thuy was absent. Aides said he had been ordered by his doctors to rest. He has been absent from some previous sessions because of a persistent cold.

Harriman announced the release of North Vietnamese held by the United States. He told newsmen after the meeting he gave the names of 14 seamen to the North Vietnamese delegation.

Harriman said the release of the seamen was a gesture of goodwill and not an act of reciprocity for the freeing of the pilots. He did not explain why he sought to separate the two actions when an American response had been expected since North Vietnam announced the fliers would be freed.

An ordinance Mayor Richard Gerhardt had vetoed July 10 appropriating $400 to purchase a copying machine for the City Health Department was unanimously passed over the mayor's veto by council.

Councilman Noble Barr said that people should be encouraged to build their own curbs and gutters. If the city does the construction and the cost is placed on the tax duplicate, city money is tied up for a 10-year period.

Barr objected to Mayor Gerhardt's system of supplying each council member with recommendations and memos. "We have received 35 recommendations from the mayor. He is overburdening the city receptionist (Kathleen Hoffman). I have seen her in the office on Saturday and that is not necessary."

Councilman David Crawford informed the city solons that a leaf pickup machine would be demonstrated next Tuesday and asked that all council members be present.

He said that the new burning ordinance would make it necessary for the city to pick up the leaves.

Councilman John Jenkins reported that Municipal Court officials had been informed that they must have purchase orders to buy supplies. He also recommended the passage of the Mini Bus ordinance and reported that the railroads were fixing crossings and mowing weeds.

Harold Clifton, taking a different position than Barr, said he felt the mayor's recommendations to council were helpful, showed a lot of research and he, for one, liked the manner in which the mayor supplied each councilman with a copy.

Bovd Horn had a number of complaints to air. He claimed that "women and young girls were cutting weeds along the railroad and East Union St." because the railroad was not keeping the weeds cut. He also aired complaints of his constituents concerning a plugged sewer on Clinton St., weeds seven or eight feet high on Second Ave., and water running down the alley between legislation that we feel sure will be in excess of this amount.

WE are not opposed in principal to these programs, but since we do not have the funds we cannot consider them. The Mayor has suggested a $5 permissive tax on auto licenses. After talking to the deputy registrar, it seems that this would provide $10,000; the State estimates 6,000 cars, or a possible $35,000.

This could be applied to the Street Maintenance and Repair fund freeing a like amount for other purposes. However, this is not enough and in order to obtain sufficient funds the public must be willing to tax itself to implement these programs.

The Mayor mentioned an income tax of 1 per cent. A one mill levy is another possibility but Council is not desirous of enacting such legislation without public support and therefore we are asking that the voters of the City of Circleville write their Councilmen expressing their desires with respect to the Mayor's programs which are undoubtedly beneficial and increased taxation to make it possible to implement them.

Council will be guided by the consensus of opinions expressed in your letters.

Councilman Horn reiterated his objection to forcing property owners to build curbs and gutters. "This places a burden on these people who are living on $55 or $60," he contended. "This dictatorship don't go with me."

Mayor Gerhardt informed council that all ordinances passed at the session of council July 16 had been approved. He also told of the suit in which the city was involved concerning the closing of Riegel Alley noting the matter had been referred to City Solicitor Charles Hosterman, who is now on vacation. He urged council to join with the county in the solid waste disposal district.

The mayor also urged council to discuss moving the service yards while the canal land is still available to the city.

Safety Director Robert Adkins told council the nine stop lights in the city on state highways will have to be revamped by Dec. 31, 1968. Adkins said the traffic control signals must meet state requirements by that date.

Chief of Police Robert Temple announced the new police cruiser is in operation.

Public Utilities Director Ervin Leist said his department would probably request a new ac counting machine soon. The present machine is 14 years old and has not been functioning properly lately according to Leist.

A letter from the Columbia Gas Company informing council of a reduction in gas rates of .75 of a cent was read by Shadley, council clerk.

It was hot and humid in council chambers last night. Councilman Keith Wagner had a portable battery powered fan to help keep "his cool" during the meeting.

City Health Director Paul Roan said that tuberculosis tests were available for persons who would be working in food booths at Pumpkin Show this year. Roan said the tests must be taken annually by the food handlers.

Ohio Vehicle Registrations Up

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A record high of 5,430,875 motor vehicle registrations during the first five months of the registration year was reported by State Auditor Roger Cloud today.

His figures showed registrations were up 2.9 per cent over the same period last year, bolstered by 4,309,046 passenger car licenses.

The passenger car registrations were up 97,198 or 2.3 per cent over this time last year. License revenues this year to date amount to $96.3 million, up $3,838,349.

Registration of other vehicles and their increases included house trailers, 83,740, up 18,855; motorcycles, 100,810, up 11,632; trucks, 352,160, up 10,948; farm trucks 130,506 up 1,264.

The only decline recorded was in truck trailer registrations dropping from 247,582 to 243,510, off 4,072.

Manson, 146 Dunmore Road, was stolen between 1:30 a.m. and 7 a.m. today. A dark green foreign model vehicle, it was recovered at about 9:30 a.m. today in Ironton by Lawrence County authorities.

Sheriff Radcliff believes the two youths stole the car and later abandoned it in Ironton. The owner of the car said it had only about enough gas to go 30 miles when it was taken.

The sheriff theorized the two boys headed west to the railroad tracks after escaping south along the tracks as far as Dunmore where they took the car.

The third floor of the jail is used only to house juveniles and women prisoners.

NO hardened criminals are ever incarcerated in any of the cells on that floor because it presents the easiest route of escape.

Sheriff Radcliff says that he is constantly worried for fear some day a prisoner may make his way into the attic over the cells and from there into the living quarters of the sheriff and his family.

A periodic check is made of prisoners on the first two floors during the night hours. Last night, Deputy Billy Dountz checked the prisoners at 1:30 and again at 4 a.m.

At those times, there was no indication that anything was wrong. At 3:30 p.m., Dountz had the trusty out of his cell to begin his daily chores.

Brakes Fail; Car Hits Bridge

A Circleville man sustained injuries in a one car accident Thursday afternoon when his brakes failed.

Ted Herron, 19, 457 Watt St., received cuts to his nose when his car struck the Hargus Creek bridge at the intersection of Watt St. and Route 22.

According to the report, Herron told police that his brakes failed and he swerved left to avoid striking a car in front of him and hit the bridge.

third floor, deputies never open a cell door unless at least two are present.

Earlier this year one of the deputies was jumped by prisoners when he opened a door on the third floor. The prisoners were stopped before they reached the bottom floor, however.

THE two youths who escaped were arrested July 24 by the sheriff. They had escaped from Fairfield School for Boys and had broken into homes of Dow West, Route 4, and Dale McAfee, of Meade. They were arrested near Meade by Sheriff Radcliff.

Charged with breaking and entering, they were to appear in Juvenile Court. Their hearing had been delayed until Aug. 22, the Sheriff said.

Radcliff said it was not unusual to hold juveniles on the third floor for extended periods of time while waiting for the Juvenile Court to take action.

The sheriff has frequently pointed out to commissioners that the third floor facilities are inadequate to house prisoners, especially juveniles.

Immediate steps are being taken to repair the damaged walls of the jail.

Sheriff Radcliff believes this is the first actual breakout from the County Jail. The last attempt to chisel through the walls was made about five years ago when Walton Spangler was sheriff, but the try was discovered before the prisoners reached freedom.

In 30 years in office, Sheriff Charles Radcliff, the present sheriff's father, never had a breakout. Prisoners who were trustys have walked away from the jail, however.

Public Utilities Director Ervin Leist said his department would probably request a new accounting machine soon. The present machine is 14 years old and has not been functioning properly lately according to Leist.

A letter from the Columbia Gas Company informing council of a reduction in gas rates of .75 of a cent was read by Shadley, council clerk.

It was hot and humid in council chambers last night. Councilman Keith Wagner had a portable battery powered fan to help keep "his cool" during the meeting.

City Health Director Paul Roan said that tuberculosis tests were available for persons who would be working in food booths at Pumpkin Show this year. Roan said the tests must be taken annually by the food handlers.

Ohio Vehicle Registrations Up

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A record high of 5,430,875 motor vehicle registrations during the first five months of the registration year was reported by State Auditor Roger Cloud today.

His figures showed registrations were up 2.9 per cent over the same period last year, bolstered by 4,309,046 passenger car licenses.

The passenger car registrations were up 97,198 or 2.3 per cent over this time last year. License revenues this year to date amount to $96.3 million, up $3,838,349.

Registration of other vehicles and their increases included house trailers, 83,740, up 18,855; motorcycles, 100,810, up 11,652; trucks, 352,160, up 10,948; farm trucks 130,506 up 1,264.

The only decline recorded was in truck trailer registrations dropping from 247,582 to 243,510, off 4,072.

THE CELL — This is a view of the hole through which two juveniles escaped from their cell in the Pickaway County Jail. The bed, at the left of the picture, was used to conceal the activities of the juveniles.

THE HOLE — The two youths climbed through this small hole and down a makeshift rope of bed sheets to freedom today. A car that authorities believe they stole in Circleville was recovered at 9:30 a.m. today in Ironton.

Youths Chisel Through Thick . . .

Manson, 146 Dunmore Road, was stolen between 1:30 a.m. and 7 a.m. today. A dark green foreign model vehicle, it was recovered at about 9:30 a.m. today in Ironton by Lawrence County authorities.

Sheriff Radcliff believes the two youths stole the car and later abandoned it in Ironton. The owner of the car said it had only about enough gas to go 30 miles when it was taken.

The sheriff theorized the two boys headed west to the railroad tracks after escaping then south along the tracks as far as Dunmore where they took the car.

The third floor of the jail is used only to house juveniles and women prisoners.

NO hardened criminals are ever incarcerated in any of the cells on that floor because it presents the easiest route of escape.

Sheriff Radcliff says that he is constantly worried for fear some day a prisoner may make his way into the attic over the cells and from there into the living quarters of the sheriff and his family.

A periodic check is made of prisoners on the first two floors during the night hours. Last night, Deputy Billy Dountz checked the prisoners at 1:30 and again at 4 a.m.

At those times, there was no indication that anything was wrong. At 3:30 p.m., Dountz had the trusty out of his cell to

Bank Burglars Steal $25,000

CLEVELAND (AP) — Frank B. Fisher, president of the Capital National Bank, said Tuesday burglars took between $25,000 and $28,000 from the bank's Parma branch sometime during the weekend.

Fisher said a major part of the money was the proceeds from the Byzantine Catholic School carnival.

Brakes Fail; Car Hits Bridge

A Circleville man sustained injuries in a one car accident Thursday afternoon when his brakes failed.

Ted Herron, 19, 457 Watt St., received cuts to his nose when his car struck the Hargus Creek bridge at the intersection of Watt St. and Route 22.

According to the report, Herron told police that his brakes failed and he swerved left to avoid striking a car in front of him and hit the bridge.

third floor, deputies never open a cell door unless at least two are present.

Earlier this year one of the deputies was jumped by prisoners when he opened a door on the third floor. The prisoners were stopped before they reached the bottom floor, however.

THE two youths who escaped were arrested July 24 by the sheriff. They had escaped from Fairfield School for Boys and had broken into homes of Dow West, Route 4, and Dale McAfee, of Meade. They were arrested near Meade by Sheriff Radcliff.

Charged with breaking and entering, they were to appear in Juvenile Court. Their hearing had been delayed until Aug. 22, the Sheriff said.

Radcliff said it was not unusual to hold juveniles on the third floor for extended periods of time while waiting for the Juvenile Court to take action.

The sheriff has frequently pointed out to commissioners that the third floor facilities are inadequate to house prisoners, especially juveniles.

Immediate steps are being taken to repair the damaged walls of the jail.

Sheriff Radcliff believes this is the first actual breakout from the County Jail. The last attempt to chisel through the walls was made about five years ago when Walton Spangler was sheriff, but the try was discovered before the prisoners reached freedom.

In 30 years in office, Sheriff Charles Radcliff, the present sheriff's father, never had a breakout. Prisoners who were trustys have walked away from the jail, however.

Boost for Market

What is next for the European Common Market? This is a timely question in the wake of the final elimination of tariff barriers between the six members of the European Economic Community and the standardization of tariffs imposed by the six on all external trade.

It is timely because the successful conclusion of tariff standardization by the group is not an end in itself, significant though it is. It was the first vital goal on a continent which exhibits increasing sentiment for complete economic and political partnership.

Perhaps nowhere is the sentiment for total European integration better crystallized than in the quiet diplomacy of Jean Rey, the Belgian who is the chief executive officer of the Common Market and the man given credit for many of the accomplishments racked up to date.

Rey, significantly, refers to himself as a "European." He has said this is an age not of national, but continental power. He is a fervent believer in political unity for Europe, and sees it coming eventually in much the same manner it came to the United States.

In fact, Rey sees more than a passing resemblance to the United States in his dream for a United Europe. A lawyer, he reads the Federalist Papers and quotes Thomas Jefferson.

In the past, France's President Charles de Gaulle has been a stumbling block to political unification. The general looked askance at anything which suggested curtailment of France's independent course in the family of nations.

That was in the days when DeGaulle was raiding America's dwindling gold supply, and before France suffered one of its worst monetary crises in years, precipitated by strikes and riots.

De Gaulle would be blind if he did not now realize he needs the help of his partners to prevent devaluation of the franc. Accordingly, the European cause of political integration has been enhanced.

The Humidity

Heat waves such as those which have swept across various sections of the country are to be expected at this time of year, but become newsworthy only when they linger interminably. Usually a week or 10 days of extreme heat is followed by cooler weather, after which the cycle is repeated. Thunderstorms usually precede a cool spell.

People who really suffer from the heat are those who live in humid areas, where 90 degrees in the shade is equivalent in its power to produce discomfort to 110 degrees in less humid spots. High humidity is confined to areas of low elevation above sea level and distant from the sea. In such sections winds seldom blow in the summertime, and the moisture content of the air is heavy.

Sea breezes keep areas adjacent to coastlines relatively comfortable, and at high elevations winds keep the air dry. When people say, "It's the humidity, not the heat," they express a truism, although it may never have occurred to them why the humidity is high or low in different sections of the country.

Letter to the Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE — We welcome letters to the editor. In order to be considered for publication, they must bear the correct name and address of the writer. Dear Editor:

Many people enjoy the great American game of baseball. We in Circleville like hundreds of other cities have the advantage of little league competition. We as parents are thankful for all who had a part in making this possible. We especially want to express our appreciation to the sponsors of the teams and the officials of the program as well as those who had the thankless job of umpiring.

This program like all others has its disadvantages. I would be remiss if I did not mention this for constructive criticism. I think some parents and possibly some coaches forgot that they were training young impressionable boys. I overheard some of these people use profanity freely. One incident came from a woman directed to an umpire. Her complaint was on a strike called on a bad pitch. However, from where she sat she could not see that the ball hit the bat. One umpire after a rharb stated that you boys act more grown than your parents.

It was refreshing after games to see the boys express their friendship with their buddies on the other teams, which some times was lacking among parents. We might remember the expression, when all is said and done, it is not a matter of who lost or won, but how you played the game.

Our son has played on the Hummel and Plum team for two years, coached by Walter Davis. We would like to take this opportunity to say that Mr. Davis was outstanding in handling the boys according to the rules. He let all the boys play regardless of the games outcome. We think his attitudes and expressions were proper examples to the boys and he was a coach to be admired and emulated.

Dense clouds of gnats and mosquitoes broke up a soccer game in Ludvika, Sweden. It was a regular picnic — but only for the bugs.

A Londoner, hauled into court on a charge of "borrowing" a ride on a steam roller was flattened by the judge. To the tune of 51 pounds ($122.40).

The director of the Cook County, Illinois, Mosquito Abatement Center reported workers had succeeded in holding the mosquito population "below the nuisance level." Does he mean none of the bugs survived? — just one mosquito is a nuisance!

Russia reports a shortage of caviar. Oh, well, that should not bother the lowly mousjik too much—since the stuff is a pretty capitalistic dish.

Echo I, the world's first passive communications satellite, has now circled the Earth more than 35,000 times. Busy little gadget, isn't it?

A Treasury official estimates the three million silver dollars being held in the Treasury Department's vault would be almost worth $75 million on the coin collectors' market. O.K., Uncle — how about turning a handsome little profit?

All the way to the tune of $8 million, which is quite a distance. The cost included building a $200,000, 95-foot cable breaker and restoring the company town of Eckley—population 85—to the 1870s. That involved stringing utility lines underground, installing a TV cable to replace house-top antennas, and covering the paved streets with earth and coal dust. Old-timers say the illusion is starting.

Try and Stop Me

A COMPUTER executive tells about a St. Louis resident who's been receiving monthly bills for $0.00 from some auto insurance company (which, of course, had installed a rival manufacturer's computer system). The bills were ignored until one arrived marked "final notice," warning that if the $0.00 wasn't coughed up forthwith, the man's policy would be terminated. Obviously there was only one thing to do, and he did it. He sent the insurance company a check for $0.00.

Accraconteur Harry Hornfield (now 83 years old) was buttonholed by one of those females who haunt New York theatre lobbies at intermission time, rattling coin boxes under your nose, and demanding donations for obscure and seldom legitimate charities. "For are you pitching for this time?" asked Harry impatiently. "For fallen women," whined the solicitor. "On your way, Lady," snapped Harry. "I give directly."

Zsa Zsa Horntoot, the giddy lady novelist, goes in for neatly typed letters that are initiated at the bottom. "ZH/WTF." Think not that the frugal Miss Horntoot enlists the services of a private secretary. The "WTF" means "with two fingers."

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

What causes warts on children's fingers? Is there any hereditary reason for these growths?

The mother of a patient, a ten-year-old boy with warts on his fingers, summed up the problem of warts by saying "Doctors can transplant hearts, yet can't cure a cold or take off warts."

She is right, but this cannot be construed as evidence that the whole structure of modern science has fallen to the ground. Warts are believed to be caused by a tiny virus, so small that it is referred to as a filtrable virus because it evades capture by any of the known, modern, microscopic techniques.

I suppose that this vague explanation is as good as the untruths known by every six-year-old child, namely, that warts are caused by playing with frogs, shooting marbles on brown grass, feeding parrots, etc. None of these "scientific explanations" have any validity.

Warts seem to crop up in bunches without any explanation and frequently disappear without any special reason. Occasionally, one of the unsightly ones is removed and for some strange reason all the others, although untouched, disappear too.

When warts really become unsightly and embarrassing, they can be removed by a number of methods. Surgery is rather difficult in children and does not always mean that all the deep seated elements of the wart are removed. A small electrical needle, which coagulates the wart, can be used painlessly on children who are first given a complete explanation of what is being done, to allay their fears and to make them more cooperative. There are many burning chemicals which, when applied to warts, reduce their size and even make them disappear. A note of warning: Harsh chemicals are often present in over-the-counter preparations. None of these should be used without the specific advice of a doctor, to prevent harming the normal adjacent skin. There are many who believe there are psychological reasons for the formation of warts and that when the emotional stress of a child is removed, the warts may disappear. And sometimes they do.

What is meant by Meckel's Disease in a child?

Occasionally, a child is born with an abnormality of the small intestine which is called Meckel's diverticulum. A diverticulum is a small pouch, which I have recently written about in connection with intestinal problems in the adult.

In the child, this tiny sac usually is found about ten or fifteen inches from the point where the small intestine joins the large intestine. In most instances it causes little or no trouble.

Sometimes the Meckel's pouch becomes inflamed, or infected, almost in the same way that the appendix does. In fact, they are neighbors and are probably irritated by the very same contents.

The diagnosis of an inflamed, or infected, Meckel's diverticulum is very often confused with acute appendicitis, because the symptoms so closely resemble each other.

Surgery is performed only when distressing symptoms or complications occur. The operation is not a dangerous one, no more so than any surgery in the abdomen. With excellent, modern anesthesia in children, recovery can be complete and permanent.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Wednesday, Aug. 7th, the 220th day of 1968. There are 146 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1942, the first American offensive battle in World War II began as U.S. Marines landed on Guadalcanal in the Solomon Islands.

On this date—In 1782, George Washington established a military decoration called the order of the purple heart.

In 1782, Congress created the U.S. War and Navy Departments.

Five years ago—Mrs. John Kennedy gave birth to her second son, Patrick Bovier Kennedy at Otis Air Force Base hospital on Cape Cod. The premature infant died two days later.

One year ago — Arab merchants went on strike in the old city of Jerusalem to protest Israel's annexation of the quarter from Jordan.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — As expected, the proposed Republican platform, which pledges to "every American that we shall think anew and act anew," contains few if any surprises at all for businessmen.

It seeks fiscal integrity, tax reform, freedom of economic decision, reduction of the national debt, elimination of federal competition with private enterprise and greater government efficiency.

Its desire to "root out the unnecessary and overlapping" agencies of government by establishing two more might puzzle some of private enterprise's management experts, but the rest is clear. All are traditional and widely accepted goals.

There are, however, some aspects of this platform that, compared with those of recent decades, demonstrate a basic change of attitude.

This change is shown, especially, in the near complete acceptance of the argument that business' time, money, brains and effort should be used in solving the major social problems of the day.

Not so long ago it was considered an infringement on the rights of private enterprise to demand that it operate in the social as well as economic sphere. In fact, to do so might have presented corporate officers with a stockholder suit.

The proposed Republican platform now shows how completely this attitude has been dropped. In the socially conscious '60s, it is business, "right" to be so involved. Not only are there profits in involvement, but there is an obligation for the corporate citizen.

Since the crisis of the cities is of such importance, the first of these proposals asks, sweepingly, for "a greater involvement of vast private enterprise resources in the improvement of urban life, induced by tax and other incentives."

More specifically, business is encouraged to invest in the low-cost housing market, to train and upgrade the jobs of the unskilled, to provide more information for purchasers of its products, to feed the poor, to reduce pollution.

You don't have to go back very far to realize that these are new attitudes. Search in the 1960 Republican platform and you'll find little if any specific mention of the responsibility or right of private enterprise to solve major social issues.

In both Democratic and Republican platforms of that year, the responsibility for social change seemed to be considered a job for the federal government. Injustice was wrong, but government muscle was the accepted corrective.

In the past few years private enterprise in America has been much more introspective, re-examining its goals and responsibilities. During this time it has concluded that it must act. And haltingly, the action has now begun.

A casual glance at the speeches or the annual reports emanating from any large corporation will demonstrate this commitment to improving the environment, to aiding the disadvantaged and, broadly speaking to proving responsibility.

At least two main factors are involved in this change: Fear that the federal government would become a dictatorial monster in seeking this better environment; and a realization that in the long run, profits would be hurt if the American dream became a nightmare.

GOP Euphoria Time Here

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

MIAMI BEACH — The weekend at this Republican Convention has been Euphoria time.

The Reaganites think they can make it a race, citing mysterious defections from Nixon strength throughout the south and the southwest. With straight faces they tell you that the first ballot will show Richard Nixon with 460 votes, Nelson Rockefeller with 350 and Ronald Reagan with 300, leaving Nixon some 200 short of victory. Since it is inconceivable to them that Rocky could ultimately trim more out of the Nixon delegations than Reagan, it follows geometrically that the swing must be on to Ronnie.

But the Nixonites exude Euphoria, too. Their candidate, satisfied that his strength is solid, has been holed up at Montauk on Long Island writing his acceptance speech. The fact that the Gallup Poll went for Nixon is enough for his henchmen; the Harris "amendment" to it, they say, was based on what they called a flawed sample, consisting of some repeaters who had been polled at a previous time. The rule for true random sampling, they point out, is that it should select people for questioning who have no previous known polling vote to justify or to repudiate. The act of justification or repudiation, so the argument goes, sets up psychological currents that flaw a sample from a statistical point of view. This is what you hear at Nixon headquarters, and it is offered here for what it is worth.

As for the Rocky camp, it counts on internecine war between the conservatives. The Reagan Right, persisting in the delusion (it is the Rocky people who are speaking) that it can ultimately move enough votes out of the Nixon "soft" category to show something ponderable for their man, will soon discover that this is not 1964, when ideology was important. In this view Rocky will inherit "soft" Nixon delegates, and those committed to favorite sons, simply because of his pragmatic argument that he can win the cities.

The euphoria in all the camps is, of course, the stuff of delusion. Clifton White, who is Reagan's delegate hunter, has done a most skillful job in states like North Carolina, Oklahoma, Texas, Alabama, and Florida, but it is most ironical that all the great names of conservatism — Barry Goldwater, Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, John Tower of Texas, Bill Buckley of the Conservative National Review — are not encouraging a drift away from Nixon. Moreover, the conservative money men — Roger Miliken of South Carolina, Jerry Milbank of Connecticut — are in Nixon's camp. Reagan might block a Nixon victory on the first ballot by a show of Southern strength, but Rockefeller delegates from Connecticut, Massachusetts and other northeastern states say they would go to Nixon before they would go to Reagan.

As for Rocky, he needs the middle to win. A deal with the Reagan Right over the Nixon Middle would be a bridge without a middle span, which suggests an architectural monstrosity. To build that middle span into his structure, Rocky is faced with the job of persuading all those people who are most grateful to Nixon for help in a hundred state and off-year campaigns.

This sort of analysis would seem to give the Nixonites justification for their euphoria. But it isn't as easy as that. There is some narrow chance, as this convention viewer sees it, that Nixon won't be able to reach the magic number of 667 votes by the third ballot. If this proves to be the case, a thoroughly flabbergasted convention would hardly turn to any of the three front runners. It would seek a fourth alternative, somebody not implicated with blood-letting or the need to save face.

That "somebody" could be an Ike Senator Mark Hatfield, who hasn't made any particular enemies. But it isn't likely that it will come to this. Nixon, at this point, is almost in. He has enough votes to attract the needed "extras" merely by dangling the promise of future pomp and power, whether it is the vice presidency or important cabinet posts.

The first case of typhoid fever in Circleville since the previous summer was reported by the city health department.

Included in the week's specials at Ed Wallace Bakery was Vienna bread at 10 cents a loaf and vanilla cup cakes — package of 6 for 8 cents.

According to the three local canning factories the Golden Bantam corn was a quality crop but a poor yield.

"Dink", a small land turtle owned by Morris Gall, Seyfert Ave., won the turtle derby held at the Corwin St. playground.

The Cheney Block, E. Main St. was sold by Timmons Shoe Repair to Chris Palm who planned to move his N. Court St. restaurant to the Cheney building.

Boost for Market

What is next for the European Common Market? This is a timely question in the wake of the final elimination of tariff barriers between the six members of the European Economic Community and the standardization of tariffs imposed by the six on all external trade.

It is timely because the successful conclusion of tariff standardization by the group is not an end in itself, significant though it is. It was the first vital goal on a continent which exhibits increasing sentiment for complete economic and political partnership.

Perhaps nowhere is the sentiment for total European integration better crystallized than in the quiet diplomacy of Jean Rey, the Belgian who is the chief executive officer of the Common Market and the man given credit for many of the accomplishments racked up to date.

Rey, significantly, refers to himself as a "European." He has said this is an age not of national, but continental power. He is a fervent believer in political unity for Europe, and sees it coming eventually in much the same manner it came to the United States.

In fact, Rey sees more than a passing resemblance to the United States in his dream for a United Europe. A lawyer, he reads the Federalist Papers and quotes Thomas Jefferson.

In the past, France's President Charles de Gaulle has been a stumbling block to political unification. The general looked askance at anything which suggested curtailment of France's independent course in the family of nations.

That was in the days when DeGaulle was raiding America's dwindling gold supply, and before France suffered one of its worst monetary crises in years, precipitated by strikes and riots.

De Gaulle would be blind if he did not now realize he needs the help of his partners to prevent devaluation of the franc. Accordingly, the European cause of political integration has been enhanced.

The Humidity

Heat waves such as those which have swept across various sections of the country are to be expected at this time of year, but become newsworthy only when they linger interminably. Usually a week or 10 days of extreme heat is followed by cooler weather, after which the cycle is repeated. Thunderstorms usually precede a cool spell.

People who really suffer from the heat are those who live in humid areas, where 90 degrees in the shade is equivalent in its power to produce discomfort to 110 degrees in less humid spots. High humidity is confined to areas of low elevation above sea level and distant from the sea. In such sections winds seldom blow in the summertime, and the moisture content of the air is heavy.

Sea breezes keep areas adjacent to coastlines relatively comfortable, and at high elevations winds keep the air dry. When people say, "It's the humidity, not the heat," they express a truism, although it may never have occurred to them why the humidity is high or low in different sections of the country.

Dear Editor:

Many people enjoy the great American game of baseball. We in Circleville like hundreds of other cities have the advantage of little league competition. We as parents are thankful for all who had a part in making this possible. We especially want to express our appreciation to the sponsors of the teams and the officials of the program as well as those who had the thankless job of umpiring.

This program like all others has its disadvantages. I would be remiss if I did not mention this for constructive criticism. I think some parents and possibly some coaches forgot that they were training young impressionable boys. I overheard some of these people use profanity freely. One incident came from a woman directed to an umpire. Her complaint was on a strike called on a bad pitch. However, from where she sat she could not see that the ball hit the bat. One umpire after a rharb stated that you boys act more grown than your parents.

It was refreshing after games to see the boys express their friendship with their buddies on the other teams, which some times was lacking among parents. We might remember the expression, when all is said and done, it is not a matter of who lost or won, but how you played the game.

Our son has played on the Hummel and Plum team for two years, coached by Walter Davis. We would like to take this opportunity to say that Mr. Davis was outstanding in handling the boys according to the rules. He let all the boys play regardless of the games outcome. We think his attitudes and expressions were proper examples to the boys and he was a coach to be admired and emulated.

A Treasury official estimates the three million silver dollars being held in the Treasury Department's vault would be almost worth $75 million on the coin collectors' market. O.K., Uncle — how about turning a handsome little profit?

All the way to the tune of $8 million, which is quite a distance. The cost included building a $200,000, 96-foot coal breaker and restoring the company town of Eckley—population 86—to the 1870s. That involved stringing utility lines underground, installing a TV cable to replace housetop antennas, and covering the paved streets with earth and coal dust. Old-timers say the illusion is starting.

A COMPUTER executive tells about a St. Louis resident who's been receiving monthly bills for $0.00 from some auto insurance company (which, of course, had installed a rival manufacturer's computer system). The bills were ignored until one arrived marked "final notice," warning that if the $0.00 wasn't coughed up forthwith, the man's policy would be terminated. Obviously there was only one thing to do, and he did it. He sent the insurance company a check for $0.00.

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

What causes warts on children's fingers? Is there any hereditary reason for these growths?

The mother of a patient, a ten-year-old boy with warts on his fingers, summed up the problem of warts by saying "Doctors can transplant hearts, yet can't cure a cold or take off warts."

She is right, but this cannot be construed as evidence that the whole structure of modern science has fallen to the ground. Warts are believed to be caused by a tiny virus, so small that it is referred to as a filtrable virus because it evades capture by any of the known, modern, microscopic techniques.

I suppose that this vague explanation is as good as the untruths known by every six-year-old child, namely, that warts are caused by playing with frogs, shooting marbles on brown grass, feeding parrots, etc. None of these "scientific explanations" have any validity.

Warts seem to crop up in bunches without any explanation and frequently disappear without any special reason. Occasionally, one of the unsightly ones is removed and for some strange reason all the others, although untouched, disappear too.

When warts really become unsightly and embarrassing, they can be removed by a number of methods. Surgery is rather difficult in children and does not always mean that all the deep seated elements of the wart are removed. A small electrical needle, which coagulates the wart, can be used painlessly on children who are first given a complete explanation of what is being done, to allay their fears and to make them more cooperative. There are many burning chemicals which, when applied to warts, reduce their size and even make them disappear. A note of warning: Harsh chemicals are often present in over-the-counter preparations. None of these should be used without the specific advice of a doctor, to prevent harming the normal adjacent skin. There are many who believe there are psychological reasons for the formation of warts and that when the emotional stress of a child is removed, the warts may disappear. And sometimes they do.

What is meant by Meckel's Disease in a child?

Occasionally, a child is born with an abnormality of the small intestine which is called Meckel's diverticulum. A diverticulum is a small pouch, which I have recently written about in connection with intestinal problems in the adult.

In the child, this tiny sac usually is found about ten or fifteen inches from the point where the small intestine joins the large intestine. In most instances it causes little or no trouble.

Sometimes the Meckel's pouch becomes inflamed, or infected, almost in the same way that the appendix does. In fact, they are neighbors and are probably irritated by the very same conditions.

The diagnosis of an inflamed, or infected, Meckel's diverticulum is very often confused with acute appendicitis, because the symptoms so closely resemble each other.

Surgery is performed only when distressing symptoms or complications occur. The operation is not a dangerous one, no more so than any surgery in the abdomen. With excellent, modern anesthesia in children, recovery can be complete and permanent.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — As expected, the proposed Republican platform, which pledges to "every American that we shall think anew and act anew," contains few if any surprises at all for businessmen.

It seeks fiscal integrity, tax reform, freedom of economic decision, reduction of the national debt, elimination of federal competition with private enterprise and greater government efficiency.

Its desire to "root out the unnecessary and overlapping" agencies of government by establishing two more might puzzle some of private enterprise's management experts, but the rest is clear. All are traditional and widely accepted goals.

There are, however, some aspects of this platform that, compared with those of recent decades, demonstrate a basic change of attitude.

This change is shown, especially, in the near complete acceptance of the argument that business' time, money, brains and effort should be used in solving the major social problems of the day.

Not so long ago it was considered an infringement on the rights of private enterprise to demand that it operate in the social as well as economic sphere. In fact, to do so might have presented corporate officers with a stockholder suit.

The proposed Republican platform now shows how completely this attitude has been dropped. In the socially conscious '60s, it is business, "right" to be so involved. Not only are there profits in involvement, but there is an obligation for the corporate citizen.

Since the crisis of the cities is of such importance, the first of these proposals asks, sweeping, for "a greater involvement of vast private enterprise resources in the improvement of urban life, induced by tax and other incentives."

More specifically, business is encouraged to invest in the low-cost housing market, to train and upgrade the jobs of the unskilled, to provide more information for purchasers of its products, to feed the poor, to reduce pollution.

You don't have to go back very far to realize that these are new attitudes. Search in the 1960 Republican platform and you'll find little if any specific mention of the responsibility or right of private enterprise to solve major social issues.

In both Democratic and Republican platforms of that year, the responsibility for social change seemed to be considered a job for the federal government. Injustice was wrong, but government muscle was the accepted corrective.

In the past few years private enterprise in America has been much more introspective, re-examining its goals and responsibilities. During this time it has concluded that it must act. And haltingly, the action has now begun.

A casual glance at the speeches or the annual reports emanating from any large corporation will demonstrate this commitment to improving the environment, to aiding the disadvantaged and, broadly speaking to proving responsibility.

At least two main factors are involved in this change: Fear that the federal government would become a dictatorial monster in seeking this better environment; and a realization that in the long run, profits would be hurt if the American dream became a nightmare.

GOP Euphoria Time Here

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

MIAMI BEACH — The week-end at this Republican Convention has been Euphoria time. The Reaganites think they can make it a race, citing mysterious defections from Nixon strength throughout the south and the southwest. With straight faces they tell you that the first ballot will show Richard Nixon with 460 votes, Nelson Rockefeller with 350 and Ronald Reagan with 300, leaving Nixon some 200 short of victory. Since it is inconceivable to them that Rocky could ultimately trim more out of the Nixon delegations than Reagan, it follows geometrically that the swing must be on to Ronnie.

But the Nixonites exude Euphoria, too. Their candidate, satisfied that his strength is solid, has been holed up at Montauk on Long Island writing his acceptance speech. The fact that the Gallup Poll went for Nixon is enough for his henchmen; the Harris "amendment" to it, they say, was based on what they called a flawed sample, consisting of some repeaters who had been polled at a previous time. The rule for true random sampling, they point out, is that it should select people for questioning who have no previous known polling vote to justify or to repudiate. The act of justification or repudiation, so the argument goes, sets up psychological currents that flaw a sample from a statistical point of view. This is what you hear at Nixon headquarters, and it is offered here for what it is worth.

As for the Rocky camp, it counts on the internecine war between the conservatives. The Reagan Right, persisting in the delusion (it is the Rocky people who are speaking) that it can ultimately move enough votes out of the Nixon "soft" category to show something ponderable for their man, will soon discover that this is not 1964, when ideology was important. In this view Rocky will inherit "soft" Nixon delegates, and those committed to favorite sons, simply because of his pragmatic argument that he can win the cities.

The euphoria in all the camps is, of course, the stuff of delusion. Clifton White, who is Reagan's delegate hunter, has done a most skillful job in states like North Carolina, Oklahoma, Texas, Alabama, and Florida, but it is most ironical that all the great names of conservatism — Barry Goldwater, Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, John Tower of Texas, Bill Buckley of the Conservative National Review — are not encouraging a drift away from Nixon. Moreover, the conservative money men — Roger Miliken of South Carolina, Jerry Milbank of Connecticut — are in Nixon's camp. Reagan might block a Nixon victory on the first ballot by a show of Southern strength, but Rockefeller delegates from Connecticut, Massachusetts and other northeastern states say they would go to Nixon before they would go to Reagan.

As for Rocky, he needs the middle to win. A deal with the Reagan Right over the Nixon Middle would be a bridge without a middle span, which suggests an architectural monstrosity. To build that middle span into his structure, Rocky is faced with the job of persuading all those people who are most grateful to Nixon for help in a hundred state and off-year campaigns.

This sort of analysis would seem to give the Nixonites justification for their euphoria. But it isn't as easy as that. There is some narrow chance, as this convention viewer sees it, that Nixon won't be able to reach the magic number of 667 votes by the third ballot. If this proves to be the case, a thoroughly flabbergasted convention would hardly turn to any of the three front runners. It would seek a fourth alternative, somebody not implicated with blood-letting or the need to save face.

That "somebody" could be an Ike Senator Mark Hatfield, but hasn't made any particular enemies. But it isn't likely that it will come to this. Nixon, at this point, is almost in. He has enough votes to attract the needed "extras" merely by dangling the promise of future pump and power, whether it is the vice presidency or important cabinet posts.

Euphoria time is fun. But when the balloting begins, realism — and its dependent deals — will take over.

U.S. 31st Infantry Rallies Around The 'Shanghai Bowl'

By BOB POOS
Associated Press Writer
CAMP CASEY, Korea (AP) — The U.S. 31st Infantry, often called the Foreign Legion of the U.S. Army, rallies around the "Shanghai Bowl."

Since it first received its colors in 1916 in the Philippines the regiment has been overseas in Asia except for one brief period in 1958.

The Shanghai Bowl, kept in a massive glass case at the front door of a Quonset hut that is brigade headquarters, is a souvenir of one of those almost forgotten foreign adventures by small American military units in the days before World War II.

In 1932 the Japanese and Chinese engaged in a major clash in and around the port city of Shanghai during which much of the city was destroyed. Shanghai was one of the major trading centers for foreigners in China and as such was the home of a number of Americans with business interests.

U.S. Marines were called in "to protect the lives and property of American citizens." It was deemed necessary to bring over the 31st Infantry from the Philippines to reinforce the Marines — young troopers in today's 31st are inclined to brag about that. The incident is celebrated in the unit's song "The Foreign Legionnaires."

The American troopers and the people they were protecting came under fire but they accomplished their mission satisfactorily and eventually were withdrawn. The 31st got a battle ribbon for its work, perhaps the only time in U.S. history that an Army regiment received such an award in peacetime.

vision, in World War II, is custodian of the bowl. "We use it on special occasions like when a new commanding officer takes over or when one leaves," he says. "The same is true of arriving and departing sergeant majors. The sergeant major said the bowl is filled for the ceremony with 'what you might call punch, I guess.'"

Local Knights Attend State Meeting at Columbus Plaza

Dallas Elliott Jr., Stanley Stevens, John Vendilinski, Ronald Winkler and William Mehalick of the Hannan Council 5297, Knights of Columbus, Circleville, attended the Ohio K

of C meeting at Columbus Plaza Hotel Sunday.

Officials of Knights of Columbus Councils throughout central and south-central Ohio were challenged by Robert E. Vogelpohl, State Deputy of the K. of C., to make this the greatest year in the Order's history. Vogelpohl, who lives at 856 Denier Place, Cincinnati, presided as leader of the Ohio K. of C.'s at the meeting opening the new Council year.

Highlighting the program for the coming year are projects to involve K of C members in seeking solutions to sociologic problems. Through the Social Action program local Councils are encouraged to develop projects working toward social and racial justice for all men.

Also keynoted were the Family Activity group and the Columbian Squires boys fraternal organization. Formation of the Family group adds increased emphasis to the Knights' policy of conducting activities involving the entire family. The Columbian Squires, official youth activity of the K of C, has been elevated to full committee status to stress the importance of proper guidance in the social, physical, civic and religious development of youth.

Continuing efforts at ecumenical exchange between the Knights and non-Catholic fraternal organizations were emphasized. Through exchange with the Masonic Order, B'nai B'rith and similar groups it is hoped that misunderstandings arising from differences in religious beliefs will be avoided through a knowledge of the similarities among the faiths.

Assisting Vogelpohl were K of C State Chaplain Rev. Declan Egan, C. P., Mt. St. Joseph College, Cincinnati, and State officers and chairmen.

Cohen Sees Integration Yet Undone

WASHINGTON (AP) — Welfare secretary Wilbur J. Cohen says integration may be a generation away in many northern city school systems and the goal in the meantime should be to improve conditions in black neighborhoods.

"I think we have to be realistic," the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare said. "In a large number of big-city areas we have a lot of neighborhoods that are going to be completely black."

But, he said, "if we can have good schools and good police protection (in such areas), maybe that's better than having fear and riots. And maybe another generation will have to deal with integration."

Cohen also said in an interview that busing of students between slum and other neighborhoods is not the answer to desegregating school systems.

"I have never thought that busing was a very large-scale answer to this problem and I don't think most people do," he said. "I don't see it as more than a temporary expedient. Over-all, nationally, it is not the answer."

Views on Television

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When the producers of CBS' new comedy series "Blondie," tapped actor Will Hutchins to play Dagwood Bumstead, they did not know they had acquired a long-time student of the venerable comic strip.

"Very few people remember why Dagwood is such a bumbler," said Will authoritatively over a noon repast that, minus bread, looked amazingly like a Dagwood sandwich surmounted by melted mozzarella cheese.

"Chic Young's comic strip was started in the late 1920s and one of the depression themes was that he was the son of a very rich man who, until he lost his money, had never done anything practical."

Poor Marchers Stir Ill Feelings

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Convention delegates, previously irked because they were turned down for extra convention tickets, were visibly irritated and privately angered at New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller over the admission of 52 members of the Poor People's campaign—all with bona fide tickets.

The marchers reportedly received tickets from National GOP Chairman Ray Bliss, Illinois Sen. Charles Percy, New York Mayor John V. Lindsay, Rep. Ogden Reid of New York and Clarence Townes, director of the Republican Minorities Division, among others.

Many of the delegates, primarily of the Reagan camp, felt the tickets were given to the group under pressure by Rockefeller.

Soldier Is Dead

WASHINGTON (AP)—Marine Pfc. Harold L. Marcum of Cleveland has died in Vietnam as a result of nonhostile action, the Defense Department reported Tuesday.

Will, whose specialty as a performer is projecting a gentle, naive quality, is a lanky six-footer who resembles not at all the cartoon character nor even Arthur Lake the actor who with Penny Singleton made careers out of playing Dagwood and Blondie in a series of almost 30 motion pictures. But Hutchins, still remembered for his four years in television's early "Sugarfoot" series, seems to be right for the role. Patricia Harty plays the title role.

Hutchins, who can kick dust and say "Ah, shucks" very convincingly, actually isn't all that unsophisticated and has a nice easy way with a comedy line. After "Sugarfoot," there was "Hey, Landlord," which barely staggered through the 1966-67 season. His TV wife, "Miss Harty," had a similar experience that year with "Occasional Wife," and both series were better than their ratings indicated.

The actor, who looks much younger than he is—early thirties—recently went through one of those civilized, amicable divorces from Christine Burnett, Carol's real-life younger sister. "What I'd love," said Will, "is to bring back Arthur Lake and Penny Singleton to play our children's grandparents. But I doubt if anyone would go along with that idea."

ABC executives are pleased with overnight ratings of the network's 90-minute nightly convention wrapup. A national survey for the 9:30-11 p.m. time period on the first night showed that, in terms of audience size, it trailed NBC by just less than a point and CBS by two points—low network on the convention-coverage pool but still twice as strong as its showing four years ago.

The first of the nightly summaries suffered from the same problems that bugged the continuing live coverage of CBS and NBC—lack of stimulating raw material with which to work.

U.S. 31st Infantry Rallies Around The 'Shanghai Bowl'

By BOB POOS

Associated Press Writer
CAMP CASEY, Korea (AP) — The U.S. 31st Infantry, often called the Foreign Legion of the U.S. Army, rallies around the "Shanghai Bowl."

Since it first received its colors in 1916 in the Philippines the regiment has been overseas in Asia except for one brief period in 1958.

The Shanghai Bowl, kept in a massive glass case at the front door of a Quonset hut that is brigade headquarters, is a souvenir of one of those almost forgotten foreign adventures by small American military units in the days before World War II.

In 1932 the Japanese and Chinese engaged in a major clash in and around the port city of Shanghai during which much of the city was destroyed. Shanghai was one of the major trading centers for foreign ers in China and as such was the home of a number of Americans with business interests.

U.S. Marines were called in "to protect the lives and property of American citizens." It was deemed necessary to bring over the 31st Infantry from the Philippines to reinforce the Marines — young troopers in today's 31st are inclined to brag about that. The incident is celebrated in the unit's song "The Foreign Legionnaires."

The American troopers and the people they were protecting came under fire but they accomplished their mission satisfactorily and eventually were withdrawn. The 31st got a battle ribbon for its work, perhaps the only time in U.S. history that an Army regiment received such an award in peacetime.

Before sailing from Shanghai, officers and men of the regiment collected 1,500 Chinese dollars, coins which in those days had a high silver content, and had a silversmith fashion the large bowl and 66 cups to go with it.

It has been the regiment's prize possession ever since. Sgt. Maj. Douglas Madison of Alexandria, Minn., a leathery-faced old soldier who fought with the regiment's parent organization, the 7th Infantry Division, in World War II, is custodian of the bowl.

"We use it on special occasions like when a new commanding officer takes over or when one leaves," he says.

"The same is true of arriving and departing sergeant majors. And we break it out for other sorts of special occasions concerning the military."

The sergeant major said the bowl is filled for the ceremony with "what you might call punch, I guess."

Local Knights Attend State Meeting at Columbus Plaza

Dallas Elliott Jr., Stanley Stevens, John Vendlinski, Ronald Winkler and William Mehalick of the Hannan Council 5297, Knights of Columbus, Circleville, attended the Ohio K

of C meeting at Columbus Plaza Hotel Sunday.

Officials of Knights of Columbus Councils throughout central and south-central Ohio were challenged by Robert E. Vogelpohl, State Deputy of the K. of C., to make this the greatest year in the Order's history. Vogelpohl, who lives at 856 Denier Place, Cincinnati, presided as leader of the Ohio K. of C.'s at the meeting opening the new Council year.

Highlighting the program for the coming year are projects to involve K of C members in seeking solutions to sociologic problems. Through the Social Action program local Councils are encouraged to develop projects working toward social and racial justice for all men.

Also keynoted were the Family Activity group and the Columbian Squires boys fraternal organization. Formation of the Family group adds increased emphasis to the Knights' policy of conducting activities involving the entire family. The Columbian Squires, official youth activity of the K of C, has been elevated to full committee status to stress the importance of proper guidance in the social, physical, civic and religious development of youth.

Continuing efforts at ecumenical exchange between the Knights and non-Catholic fraternal organizations were emphasized. Through exchange with the Masonic Order, B'nai B'rith and similar groups it is hoped that misunderstandings arising from differences in religious beliefs will be avoided through a knowledge of the similarities among the faiths.

Assisting Vogelpohl were K of C State Chaplain Rev. Declan Egan, C. P., Mt. St. Joseph College, Cincinnati, and State officers and chairmen.

Cohen Sees Integration Yet Undone

WASHINGTON (AP) — Welfare secretary Wilbur J. Cohen says integration may be a generation away in many northern city school systems and the goal in the meantime should be to improve conditions in black neighborhoods.

"I think we have to be realistic," the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare said. "In a large number of big-city areas we have a lot of neighborhoods that are going to be completely black."

But, he said, "if we can have good schools and good police protection (in such areas), maybe that's better than having fear and riots. And maybe another generation will have to deal with integration."

Cohen also said in an interview that busing of students between slum and other neighborhoods is not the answer to desegregating school systems.

"I have never thought that busing was a very large-scale answer to this problem and I don't think most people do," he said. "I don't see it as more than a temporary expedient. Over-all, nationally, it is not the answer."

Find 2 Murdered In Walnut Hills

CINCINNATI (AP)—Autopsies revealed bullet wounds in the badly decomposed bodies of a Negro man and a white woman found Tuesday in a Walnut Hills apartment.

They were identified as James Hartman, 54, and Juanita Perkins, in her 30s.

The bodies were discovered when a neighbor called the building manager to complain of odors coming from the third-floor apartment.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When the producers of CBS's new comedy series "Blondie," tapped actor Will Hutchins to play Dagwood Bumstead, they did not know they had acquired a long-time student of the venerable comic strip.

"Very few people remember why Dagwood is such a bumbler," said Will authoritatively over a noon repast that, minus bread, looked amazingly like a Dagwood sandwich surmounted by melted mozzarella cheese.

"Chic Young's comic strip was started in the late 1920s and one of the depression themes was that he was the son of a very rich man who, until he lost his money, had never done anything practical."

Poor Marchers Stir Ill Feelings

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Convention delegates, previously irked because they were turned down for extra convention tickets, were visibly irritated and privately angered at New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller over the admission of 52 members of the Poor People's campaign—all with bona fide tickets.

The marchers reportedly received tickets from National GOP Chairman Ray Bliss, Illinois Sen. Charles Percy, New York Mayor John V. Lindsay, Rep. Ogden Reid of New York and Clarence Townes, director of the Republican Minorities Division, among others.

Many of the delegates, primarily of the Reagan camp, felt the tickets were given to the group under pressure by Rockefeller.

Soldier Is Dead

WASHINGTON (AP)—Marine Pfc. Harold L. Marcum of Cleveland has died in Vietnam as a result of nonhostile action, the Defense Department reported Tuesday.

Will, whose specialty as a performer is projecting a gentle, naive quality, is a lanky six-footer who resembles not at all the cartoon character nor even Arthur Lake the actor who with Penny Singleton made careers out of playing Dagwood and Blondie in a series of almost 30 motion pictures. But Hutchins, still remembered for his four years in television's early "Sugarfoot" series, seems to be right for the role. Patricia Harty plays the title role.

Hutchins, who can kick dust and say "Ah, shucks" very convincingly, actually isn't all that unsophisticated and has a nice easy way with a comedy line. After "Sugarfoot," there was "Hey, Landlord," which barely staggered through the 1966-67 season. His TV wife, "Miss Harty," had a similar experience that year with "Occasional Wife," and both series were better than their ratings indicated.

The actor, who looks much younger than he is—early thirties—recently went through one of those civilized, amicable divorces from Christine Burnett, Carol's real-life younger sister. "What I'd love," said Will, "is to bring back Arthur Lake and Penny Singleton to play our children's grandparents. But I doubt if anyone would go along with that idea."

ABC executives are pleased with overnight ratings of the network's 90-minute nightly convention wrapup. A national survey for the 9:30-11 p.m. time period on the first night showed that, in terms of audience size, it trailed NBC by just less than a point and CBS by two points—low network on the convention-coverage pool but still twice as strong as its showing four years ago.

The first of the nightly summaries suffered from the same problems that bugged the continuing live coverage of CBS and NBC—lack of stimulating raw material with which to work.

David Melvin Troutman, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gladden Troutman of 155 East Union Street, Circleville, in a double ring ceremony 2:30 Sunday afternoon August 4, at Grace United Methodist Church in Dayton.

The ceremony was performed by the Reverend Paul Niswander who was assisted by the Reverend George Troutman, uncle of the groom. The altar was decorated with vases of white gladioli, asters and mums. Lon Offenbacher, brother of the bride, served as acolyte.

Frank Michael, organist, accompanied the vocalist, John McDonough, who sang "Because" prior to the ceremony and "The Lord's Prayer" during the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of organza with a fitted bodice of lace and a detachable chapel length train attached at the back. A cluster of organza bows applied with seed pearls held the shoulder length veil of nylon.

The bride carried a bouquet of white carnations and pink roses and a white handkerchief which she borrowed from her grandmother. Her only jewelry was a cluster necklace of seed pearls, a gift of the groom.

Mrs. John Troutman, sister-in-law of the groom, served as matron of honor and Mrs. William Meyers, sister of the groom, was bridesmatron. Junior bridesmaids were Miss Teresa Troutman, sister of the groom, and Miss Luanne Offenbacher, sister of the bride.

They all wore floor length gowns of pink nylon dotted with white sequins. The empire waistlines were enhanced by pink velvet ribbon and the elbow-length sleeves were trimmed with lace. The matching headpieces were made of layered pink velvet bows to which short pink veils were attached. All four attendants wore pearl necklaces. Each attendant carried a single rose with streamers, the matron of honor carried a red rose and the other attendants carried pink roses.

The flower girl, Melea Troutman, wore a long white linen dress, trimmed with pink velvet ribbon. She carried a white basket filled with assorted flowers in varying shades of pink. Scott Melvin, cousin of the groom, was ringbearer.

John Troutman served as best man for his brother. Ushers were Lt. William Meyers, brother-in-law of the groom; Steven Neff, cousin of the groom, and Larry Offenbacher, brother of the bride.

The bride's mother chose a pale yellow dress of crepe and organza with a lace over-dress. She wore matching yellow shoes and carried a yellow purse. Her other accessories, a hat and gloves, were white. Her corsage was of yellow rosebuds.

Mrs. Troutman wore a mint green brocade dress with matching hat and white accessories. Her corsage was of yellow rosebuds.

Mrs. Edgar Aleshire, grandmother of the bride, wore a turquoise silk dress with a lace over-dress. Mrs. Herbert Melvin, grandmother of the groom, wore a light blue dress. Their corsages were pink carnations.

A reception in the church parlor followed the ceremony. Mrs. Ruth Neff, aunt of the groom, presided at the guest book. Hostesses were Miss Rosemary Melvin, cousin of the groom, and Miss Sharon DeLong.

Centering the bride's table was a four-tiered wedding cake, decorated with pink flower buds, encircled with greenery. An arrangement of pink carnations, white asters and gladioli adorned the table.

For a wedding trip to Washington D.C., the bride wore a pink and white organza dress and pink net hat, with white accessories. She wore a corsage taken from her bridal bouquet.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

She Has Only Dogs for Grandchildren

DEAR ABBY: My only son has been married for nearly 5 years, and so far all he and his wife have been able to raise are dogs! All my friends have lovely grandchildren to talk about, and I have nothing. It is breaking my heart. My son and daughter-in-law appear to be very happy and there is never any mention of "hoped for" children. Is this normal? They have two poodles who are treated like babies.

Since I think my daughter-in-law is the one who wears the pants in the family, should I ask her if dogs are the best she can do?

DISAPPOINTED IN FLUSHING DEAR DISAPPOINTED: No. And don't ask your son either. They are apt to tell you it's none of your doggone business.

DEAR ABBY: Some neighbors who have children about the ages of ours were suddenly called out of town for a family funeral, and they asked us if we would chaperon a teenage party at their home. We said we'd be glad to and asked them for instructions concerning our responsibilities. We were told, "You don't have to do anything."

I'd like to know what good chaperons are if they "keep out of sight?" My husband and I sat upstairs in the sewing room the whole time and watched television, and when everything was quiet downstairs and all the kids were gone, we came down and went home.

Is this the way people are supposed to "chaperon" a party?

BEWILDERED DEAR BEWILDERED: No. A chaperon should have an understanding with the young people as to when the party should end, and a few other specifics, such as where in the house they should be, and the rules of conduct, leaving the premises, etc. Chaperons need not be present constantly, but they should make it clear that they could pop in at any moment.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think I should let my hair grow?

SONNY DEAR SONNY: I don't know how you can stop it.

DEAR ABBY: I usually agree with your advice, but not this time. You seemed to be very sympathetic to the 36-year-old wife and mother who had been corresponding with that young

WASHINGTON (AP) — One year after the assassination of its founder—George Lincoln Rockwell—the American Nazi party, its name changed, appears outwardly more prosperous, more sophisticated. But its private papers disclose deep splits with several factions competing for a control of the tiny movement.

What apparently is the principal Nazi organization—now known as the National Socialist White Peoples party, NSWPP—has bought a two-story building in a quiet middle-class neighborhood in suburban Arlington, Va.

There, in a second floor office that is carpeted wall-to-wall in deep red, Matthias Koehl Jr., 33, presides as national leader. Seated beneath a four-foot red banner bearing a black swastika—symbol of Adolph Hitler's Third Reich—Koehl rules a tiny band of armed racists and anti-Semites.

Koehl was second in command last Aug. 25 when Rockwell was shot by a sniper in an Arlington shopping center. The sniper, former Nazi party member John Patler, has since been convicted and sentenced to 20 years in prison.

Koehl, a native of Milwaukee, Wis., speaks glibly and without hesitation as he talks of the aims of the Nazis—and of his own predictions for the future of the United States:

"What we know is coming is race war. Race war is just around the corner in historical terms. We expect there will be a serious American defeat in Vietnam because of the administration's no-win policy."

He sees also hard economic times coming "because of dwindling reserves of gold and silver. There's going to be chaos in America—we will hold out at that time the only alternative."

But Koehl, respected by his pistol-toting comrades in the Arlington establishment, apparently doesn't command the respect of all Nazis. He lacks something of Rockwell, the former Navy commander and World War II fighter pilot who affected a folksy style as he smoked his corn-cob pipe and talked hate.

"I'm going to completely separate the black and white races and preserve white Christian domination in this country, and I'm going to have the Jew Communists and any other traitors gassed for treason," Rockwell once said.

But while the basic aims of the Nazis haven't changed, their activities have. They've largely stopped their publicity seeking antics such as the demonstration in 1965 when a Rockwell trooper put on black-face minstrel garb, slipped past guards and made a dramatic entrance in the well of the House of Representatives to protest civil rights legislation.

And they've turned to use of the telephone for what Koehl calls the "white power message." One such message, opposing the elevation of Associate Justice Abe Fortas to chief justice called him "a Red Jew—an utterly despicable one."

And more recently Koehl's recorded voice urged District of Koehl said Rockwell's plan called for three phases in development of the party.

The first, begun with the 1966 founding, was "to make the party known at all costs—to project an image of the party as an all-out enemy of communism, of race mixing or Jewish treason." This called for picketing and stunts to obtain any publicity possible.

The second phase—which Koehl estimates will take two to five years—calls for building the party internally, forming the mechanism of what Koehl calls the "revolutionary cadre."

The final phase, he said, will be to "build a grass roots movement in American politics."

DEAR ABBY: My only son is 20-year-old soldier in Vietnam. Her husband objected when she invited him to visit them when he got out because he was jealous. You said the husband had an evil mind, was sick, immature, and half a dozen other things.

Well, I wonder how that wife would feel if her husband had started to correspond with a 20-year-old army nurse, and invited HER to come to visit them?

'Nude Look' Is Unveiled In London

By NADEANE WALKER
AP Fashion Writer

LONDON (AP) — Two of London's most avant-garde young designers, Ossie Clark and Alice Pollock of Quorum, came out today with the "nude look."

Not content with just see-throughs — "We did see-throughs and maxis months before Paris ever thought of it," they say — they've added new spice with open-hanging jacket-and-pants suits worn with no bra.

Even when jackets or kimonos are belted, they open in a wide vee to the belly. Many trouser suits are made in very filmy printed chiffon or clinging satin, worn over nothing but a birthday suit.

The Clark-Pollock team says it's bored with headline controversy. They show most of their dresses a few inches below the knee, "but length is immaterial, and we'll hem them up if customers like."

Would-Be Bandit Meets Opposition

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A man grabbed 4,000 dollars at a bank here Monday and quickly rushed out-only to be met by a waiting police chief.

Teller Betty Waterworth of the Toledo Home Federal Bank said she thought she recognized him as a man who stole $5,000 from the bank in June. She pressed the alarm button.

Northwood Police Chief Thomas Hall arrested Danile Gondea, 45, of Windsor, Ont. He was jailed and charged with armed robbery.

WASHINGTON (AP) — One year after the assassination of its founder—George Lincoln Rockwell—the American Nazi party, its name changed, appears outwardly more prosperous, more sophisticated. "I was born a racist," Koehl told an interviewer. "I never could see the sense of mixing of blacks and whites. It's highly indecent. I've always believed in the establishment of an all-white America."

Koehl was second in command last Aug. 25 when Rockwell was shot by a sniper in an Arlington shopping center. The sniper, former Nazi party member John Patler, has since been convicted and sentenced to 20 years in prison.

Koehl, a native of Milwaukee, Wis., speaks glibly and without hesitation as he talks of the aims of the Nazis—and of his own predictions for the future of the United States:

And they've turned to use of the telephone for what Koehl calls the "white power message." One such message, opposing the elevation of Associate Justice Abe Fortas to chief justice called him "a Red Jew—an utterly despicable one."

And more recently Koehl's recorded voice urged District of Columbia residents to disobey the new district gun registration law, and instead obtain a minimum of 100 rounds of ammunition for each weapon they own. It urged they find secure hiding places for their weapons.

"Everyone who registers his gun with the black government in the district will sooner or later be ordered to give up that gun," Koehl's recorded voice said. "The white minority in Washington will be defenseless and completely at the mercy of the rampaging blacks."

Although Koehl will not disclose the size of his organization or its budget, he said "our income is rising steadily. We have developed new sources of income."

And if the party doesn't seem as prominent it's because it has entered Phase II of its development, as Koehl explains it.

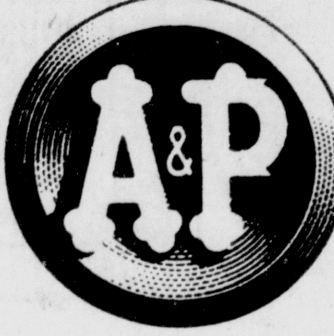

Koehl said Rockwell's plan called for three phases in development of the party.

The first, begun with the 1966 founding, was "to make the party known at all costs—to project an image of the party as an all-out enemy of communism, of race mixing or Jewish treason." This called for picketing and stunts to obtain any publicity possible.

Security Test Hits Beer Wall
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Just to test things out, a newsman showed up at Convention Hall Tuesday night totally without credentials.
He got in the parking area without a pass. He got into the hall itself, again without a pass. But he finally was stopped. In the free-beer hall run by 13 railroads.
Evidently one sure security rule in this security-conscious convention is: No pass, no beer.

Soldier Home from War; Medals Help Salve Wounds

By BURL OSBORNE
Associated Press Writer
DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Six-year-old Lori Ann Lajoie didn't want her father to volunteer for Vietnam.
"You'll get killed," she said.
Not so, said her father, a career Army man since he enlisted in 1949. "The only thing that might happen is maybe I'll lose a leg like Mommy did."

Lori Ann accepted that. Her mother had always had one artificial leg and had gotten along just fine. Lori saw nothing unusual about it.
So, explained Sgt. I.C. Vital Lajoie, that's how he happened to go off to war. That is, after the Army relented after rejecting his first four attempts to volunteer for combat.
Barely four months later, in the spring of 1967, Lajoie's war was over.

He returned to the United States with the Air Medal, Purple Heart with cluster, two Bronze Star citations and the Silver Star for "an inspiring display of personal bravery" and gallantry in action.
He also brought back fragmentation and bullet wounds from his almost daily encounters with the Viet Cong as a squad leader in Company B, 1st Battalion, 7th Cavalry.

More than a year has passed and Lajoie is pressing ahead despite the loss of the leg and a shattering break that left the other three inches shorter.
He has taken training and civil service examinations for possible post office work. He just enrolled in a mechanic training course while awaiting a medical discharge from the Army.

Neither Lajoie, 36, from Danbury, Conn., nor his wife, who lost her left leg when she was struck by a car as a child of 7, seem to consider an artificial leg a handicap.
"Sometimes I'm concerned that I can't do the things I used to," he said. "But I see the things she can do and I know I'll be all right."

"I've never had any doubt I could do anything I wanted to do if I wanted to do it badly enough," said his wife. And that includes household chores and the care of two growing children, Lori, now 8, and Gilbert, 2.
Artificial legs don't cause much of a stir in the Lajoie household. "It doesn't bother either of the children or either of us," said Mrs. Lajoie, who comes from Sugar Creek, Mo. The family came to Denver to be with their father at the Army's Fitzsimons General Hospital.

Security Test Hits Beer Wall
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Just to test things out, a newsman showed up at Convention Hall Tuesday night totally without credentials.
He got in the parking area without a pass. He got into the hall itself, again without a pass. But he finally was stopped. In the free-beer hall run by 13 railroads.
Evidently one sure security rule in this security-conscious convention is: No pass, no beer.

Soldier Home from War; Medals Help Salve Wounds

By BURL OSBORNE
Associated Press Writer
DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Six-year-old Lori Ann Lajoie didn't want her father to volunteer for Vietnam.
"You'll get killed," she said.
Not so, said her father, a career Army man since he enlisted in 1949. "The only thing that might happen is maybe I'll lose a leg like Mommy did."

Lori Ann accepted that. Her mother had always had one artificial leg and had gotten along just fine. Lori saw nothing unusual about it.
So, explained Sgt. I.C. Vital Lajoie, that's how he happened to go off to war. That is, after the Army relented after rejecting his first four attempts to volunteer for combat.
Barely four months later, in the spring of 1967, Lajoie's war was over.

He returned to the United States with the Air Medal, Purple Heart with cluster, two Bronze Star citations and the Silver Star for "an inspiring display of personal bravery" and gallantry in action.
He also brought back fragmentation and bullet wounds from his almost daily encounters with the Viet Cong as a squad leader in Company B, 1st Battalion, 7th Cavalry.

More than a year has passed and Lajoie is pressing ahead despite the loss of the leg and a shattering break that left the other three inches shorter.
He has taken training and civil service examinations for possible post office work. He just enrolled in a mechanic training course while awaiting a medical discharge from the Army.

Neither Lajoie, 36, from Danbury, Conn., nor his wife, who lost her left leg when she was struck by a car as a child of 7, seem to consider an artificial leg a handicap.
"Sometimes I'm concerned that I can't do the things I used to," he said. "But I see the things she can do and I know I'll be all right."

"I've never had any doubt I could do anything I wanted to do if I wanted to do it badly enough," said his wife. And that includes household chores and the care of two growing children, Lori, now 8, and Gilbert, 2.

Artificial legs don't cause much of a stir in the Lajoie household. "It doesn't bother either of the children or either of us," said Mrs. Lajoie, who comes from Sugar Creek, Mo. The family came to Denver to be with their father at the Army's Fitzsimons General Hospital.

Children Attend Easter Seal Summer Camp

Two Pickaway County youngsters were among the more than 100 children attending the first session of the Easter Seal Summer Camping program at Camp Pettenger near Tiffin.

The annual summer program is sponsored by the Ohio Society for Crippled Children and Adults. It is composed of two two-week residential camping sessions for children with the final week reserved for physically and neurologically handicapped adults of Ohio.

Sharon Ely and Dean Cobb, both of Pickaway County, attended the camp under the sponsorship of the Pickaway County Society for Crippled Children, an affiliate of the Ohio Society and the National Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

Barry Back In Middle Of Politics

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Barry Goldwater, conservative spellbinder of the 1964 Republican convention, is at it again.

The former Arizona senator changed his mind about returning home and quietly set up shop Tuesday in an unpretentious hotel room. Delegates began pouring through the halls.

Goldwater's rousing welcome at Convention Hall Monday night briefly rekindled his glory of four years ago in San Francisco, and provided an opportunity Richard M. Nixon couldn't pass up.

Goldwater said only Nixon could have prevailed on him to remain at the convention. Now Goldwater says he will be in Miami Beach until Thursday, the morning after the presidential candidate is scheduled to be named.

Southern delegations were Goldwater's specialty Tuesday

AUBURN, N.Y. (AP) — Members of the school board and school administrators, feeling that $6,000 was too much to pay for landscaping, did the work themselves. They completed the five-acre site at Cayuga Central Junior-Senior High School at a cost of $500.

CofC Plans Neighbor Day, Hears of City Bus System

Circleville area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors met Tuesday to plan for "Neighbor Day" and to hear proposals for a new city bus service.

John Robinson was a guest at the meeting and described the minibus service which will be offered to the citizens of Circleville in the near future. Two buses, each accommodating 14 to 15, will run from 7:30 a.m. until 6 p.m. within the city limits. It will take the average rider six minutes to get downtown.

"Hi! Neighbor Day" will be held on August 15th and will include a tour of local industries and a pork chop barbecue dinner served at the Fairgrounds Grandstand. Reservations for the tour and dinner are still available; the deadline is Friday.

As another activity of the Agri-Business Committee, the Chamber participated in the 4-H stock sale at the Pickaway County Fair by purchasing two lambs. The purchase was made by Chaney Vance, chairman.

MIKE Harrison, chairman of the Industrial Display at the Fair, thanked the 12 industries which participated: Blue Ribbon Dairy, Circleville Oil, Coca Cola, Container, DuPont, Eshelman, GE, Lincoln Plastics, Owens-Illinois, PPG Industries, Ralston Purina and Sturm & Dillard.

Wayne E. Smith, chairman of the Deer Creek Dedication Committee, announced that plans are well organized for the ceremonies at the site on Sept. 21st. The Washington Court House and Mt. Sterling Chamber of Commerce are also taking part in planning the event.

Miss Linda Carney reported on the progress of the Student Summer Employment office, which will close at the end of this week. A total of 131 registrations have been received; of this number, 45 students obtained work through the Chamber program.

Dr. William Myers reviewed the many activities of his Safety and Health Committee, which has been instrumental in obtaining crosswalk signs for three neighborhood schools.

The fourth crosswalk sign, at Mound Street School, will be installed before school reopens in September. The committee has also sponsored a training session for expectant parents, through the cooperation of the American Red Cross and the local Extension Agent. Fire Prevention Week will be observed in October, with the help

Circleville area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors met Tuesday to plan for "Neighbor Day" and to hear proposals for a new city bus service.

John Robinson was a guest at the meeting and described the minibus service which will be offered to the citizens of Circleville in the near future. Two buses, each accommodating 14 to 15, will run from 7:30 a.m. until 6 p.m. within the city limits. It will take the average rider six minutes to get downtown.

"Hi! Neighbor Day" will be held on August 15th and will include a tour of local industries and a pork chop barbecue dinner served at the Fairgrounds Grandstand. Reservations for the tour and dinner are still available; the deadline is Friday.

As another activity of the Agri-Business Committee, the Chamber participated in the 4-H stock sale at the Pickaway County Fair by purchasing two lambs. The purchase was made by Chaney Vance, chairman.

MIKE Harrison, chairman of the Industrial Display at the Fair, thanked the 12 industries which participated: Blue Ribbon Dairy, Circleville Oil, Coca Cola, Container, DuPont, Eshelman, GE, Lincoln Plastics, Owens-Illinois, PPG Industries, Ralston Purina and Sturm & Dillard.

Wayne E. Smith, chairman of the Deer Creek Dedication Committee, announced that plans are well organized for the ceremonies at the site on Sept. 21st. The Washington Court House and Mt. Sterling Chamber of Commerce are also taking part in planning the event.

Miss Linda Carney reported on the progress of the Student Summer Employment office, which will close at the end of this week. A total of 131 registrations have been received; of this number, 45 students obtained work through the Chamber program.

Dr. William Myers reviewed the many activities of his Safety and Health Committee, which has been instrumental in obtaining crosswalk signs for three neighborhood schools.

The fourth crosswalk sign, at Mound Street School, will be installed before school reopens in September. The committee has also sponsored a training session for expectant parents, through the cooperation of the American Red Cross and the local Extension Agent. Chet Trail of Rochester may be only a .171 hitter, but you'd have trouble convincing the Columbus Jets of that.

The Red Wing second baseman drove in four runs Tuesday night as Rochester swept a doubleheader from the Jets, 3-1 and 7-2, and moved past them into second place in the International League standings.

The Toledo Mud Hens retained a 4½-game grip on the top spot with a 7-1 victory over last-place Richmond. Jacksonville edged Buffalo 4-3 and Louisville outlasted Syracuse 9-5.

Mike Anderson threw a four-hitter at Columbus in the seven-inning first game, and Roger Nelson pitched an eight-hitter in the second game.

Les Cain and Dick Radatz scattered 10 hits as Toledo walloped Richmond. Ron Woods hit two homers and Junior Lopez clubbed his 18th as they drove in four of the Mud Hens' runs between them.

Oriole Bobbles Give Twins Win

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
It was out and you're on and on and you're out.

Any fan knows that's no way to play baseball. The Baltimore Orioles know it, too.

Tony Oliva led off the sixth inning for Minnesota Tuesday night and struck out. But Oriole catcher Andy Etchebarren failed to handle the third strike and Oliva reached first. One out later, Bob Allison homered and Minnesota had a 5-0 lead.

The Orioles then fought back to trail by only 5-4 with one out in the ninth. Up stepped pinch-hitter Larry Haney, who lashed the ball to right field and ended up on second base. But he failed to touch first and was out.

Ron Perranoski retired the next batter and the second-place Orioles were beaten 5-4 to fall 8½ games behind the American League-leading Detroit Tigers.

The Tigers edged Cleveland

2-1 in 17 innings on Dick Tracewski's run-scoring single and led 5-2 after eight innings of the nightcap of the two-night doubleheader when it was suspended by a 1 a.m. EDT, curfew. It will be completed tonight.

In other American League action, Boston trounced the Chicago White Sox 8-2 and California beat Washington 10-3 before losing to the Senators 1-0. The New York Yankees and Oakland were not scheduled.

Cesar Tovar scored the first two Minnesota runs and drove in the third. Frank Robinson and Bob Johnson drove in Baltimore runs in the sixth. The Orioles got another pair in the eighth on Boog Powell's RBI double and an error.

Tracewski's game-winning single was only his second hit in 33 at bats. It scored Willie Horton, who singled and moved to second when Bill Freehan was hit by a pitch.

Cleveland scored in the third inning on Tommy Harper's single, a sacrifice and Jose Cardenal's single. Detroit tied it in the eighth when Don Wert homered off starter Luis Tiant.

The Tigers took a 5-2 lead in the suspended game by scoring four runs in the sixth, two of them coming on Al Kaline's pinch double with the bases loaded.

Reds Top Cardinals, 5-0, Behind Maloney's Pitching

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Cincinnati hurler Jim Maloney was talking more of St. Louis shortstop Dal Maxvill Tuesday night than of his 5-0 shutout over the Cards.

"It's a good thing there were not five or six Maxvills—or I might have been in trouble," Maloney said after pitching his second shutout of the 1968 campaign.

Maxvill got three of the five Cards hits and "he hit everything I put up there," Maloney said. The 28-year-old right-hander, going the distance, picked up his 10th victory of the season against seven losses.

The rest of the first-place St. Louis team did not fare so well at the hand of Maloney who struck out four and allowed one walk. "I got my curve ball over and that made a big difference," Maloney said.

Maloney has been plagued with a sore arm, and when asked about it he said: "Just like I say, you've got to go out there and pitch sometimes when your arm is hurting. I'm not giving any alibis, but it's given me some trouble."

Steve Carlton, who went 7-23 in 1967 and gave up four hits, took the loss.

The Reds knocked three St. Louis pitchers for 11 hits and grabbed a 1-0 lead in the second, holding it until the eighth when they pushed it 5-0. Three of the eighth-inning runs were unearned.

Lee May singled in the second to run his hitting streak to 19 games. He took second on a Cards' error and scored on Tommy Helms' single.

Leo Cardenas opened Cincinnati's five hit attack in the eighth with a solo homer. Singles by Johnny Bench and Tony Perez delivered the final two runs.

DETROIT (AP)—After 25 innings of baseball Tuesday, the Detroit Tigers can count one victory, a major league record and a pretty good hold on a second victory.

It all adds up to a 6½ game lead over second place Baltimore, a 5-4 loser to Minnesota, in the American League pennant race.

The Tigers can make it an even seven games by getting three outs tonight.

The second game of a two-night doubleheader with the Cleveland Indians was suspended by a 1 a.m. curfew with Detroit leading 5-2. The Tigers won the opener 2-1 on Dick Tracewski's run-scoring single in the 17th inning.

Manager Mayo Smith said he may use Earl Wilson, who is slated to start tonight's regulation game, in the final inning.

"We need three outs to win it," he said. "I'll have to sleep on it."

Cleveland Manager Al Dark said, "If we score four runs in the top of the ninth, I'll probably start (Sam) McDowell. If not, I don't know what I'll do."

"It (the second game) isn't over yet. We've still got an inning left," he added.

The game was halted at the end of the eighth because of an American League rule which prohibits the start of an inning after 1 a.m.

Oriole Bobbles Give Twins Win

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
It was out and you're on and on and you're out.

Any fan knows that's no way to play baseball. The Baltimore Orioles know it, too.

Tony Oliva led off the sixth inning for Minnesota Tuesday night and struck out. But Oriole catcher Andy Etchebarren failed to handle the third strike and Oliva reached first. One out later, Bob Allison homered and Minnesota had a 5-0 lead.

The Orioles then fought back to trail by only 5-4 with one out in the ninth. Up stepped pinch-hitter Larry Haney, who lashed the ball to right field and ended up on second base. But he failed to touch first and was out.

Ron Perranoski retired the next hitter and the second-place Orioles were beaten 5-4 to fall 6½ games behind the American League-leading Detroit Tigers.

The Tigers edged Cleveland

2-1 in 17 innings on Dick Tracewski's run-scoring single and led 5-2 after eight innings of the nightcap of the two-night doubleheader when it was suspended by a 1 a.m. EDT, curfew. It will be completed tonight.

In other American League action, Boston trounced the Chicago White Sox 8-2 and California beat Washington 10-3 before losing to the Senators 1-0. The New York Yankees and Oakland were not scheduled.

Cesar Tovar scored the first two Minnesota runs and drove in the third. Frank Robinson and Bob Johnson drove in Baltimore runs in the sixth. The Orioles got another pair in the eighth on Boog Powell's RBI double and an error.

Tracewski's game-winning single was only his second hit in 33 at bats. It scored Willie Horton, who singled and moved to second when Bill Freehan was hit by a pitch.

Cleveland scored in the third inning on Tommy Harper's single, a sacrifice and Jose Cardenal's single. Detroit tied it in the eighth when Don Wert homered off starter Luis Tiant.

The Tigers took a 5-2 lead in the suspended game by scoring four runs in the sixth, two of them coming on Al Kaline's pinch double with the bases loaded.

Reds Top Cardinals, 5-0, Behind Maloney's Pitching

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Cincinnati hurler Jim Maloney was talking more of St. Louis shortstop Dal Maxvill Tuesday night than his 5-0 shutout over the Cards.

"It's a good thing there were not five or six Maxvills—or I might have been in trouble," Maloney said after pitching his second shutout of the 1968 campaign.

Maxvill got three of the five Cards hits and "he hit everything I put up there," Maloney said. The 28-year-old right-hander, going the distance, picked up his 10th victory of the season against seven losses.

The rest of the first-place St. Louis team did not fare so well at the hand of Maloney who struck out four and allowed one walk. "I got my curve ball over and that made a big difference," Maloney said.

Maloney has been plagued with a sore arm, and when asked about it he said: "Just like I say, you've got to go out there and pitch sometimes when your arm is hurting. I'm not giving any alibis, but it's given me some trouble."

Steve Carlton, who went 7-23 in innings and gave up four hits, took the loss.

The Reds knocked three St. Louis pitchers for 11 hits and grabbed a 1-0 lead in the second, holding it until the eighth when they pushed it 5-0. Three of the eighth-inning runs were unearned.

Lee May singled in the second to run his hitting streak to 19 games. He took second on a Cards' error and scored on Tommy Helms' single.

Leo Cardenas opened Cincinnati's five hit attack in the eighth with a solo homer. Singles by Johnny Bench and Tony Perez delivered the final two runs.

YOUNG TREND August Sale of Wall-To-Wall Carpet

Occasionally you'll find a little out of any money. Such a store is Young Trend, way out on Mound Street, run by two fellows who have low expenses, who are working long hours to offer their customers good, long wearing, beautiful carpets at a fraction of what they would cost

from the fancy big city stores.
These fellows want your business, are real pleased when they get it, and try to give you the finest job possible to make your home beautiful.
Shop around and compare and you'll know how much you really can save on better carpets at Young Trend.

During This Sale!

Some people ask about the fact Young
Trend is only open from 3 to 8:30 so we'll explain. This is one of the ways they save expenses to save you money on your carpets.
Each morning at 8:30 Young Trend's
truck is loaded with carpet and Bob and
Al are out installing carpet to beautify one of their customers home. Carpet is installed until 3 when the store opens for selling. This saves the price of several clerks keeping the store open these extra hours and it saves you money. On Wednesday it is a dead day in Circleville, so rather than sit around the store and twiddle their thumbs, Bob and Al are out laying carpets and keep the store closed
that day. It all adds up to your benefit.

YOUNG TREND August Sale of Wall-To-Wall Carpet

Occasionally you'll find a little out of the way store with low overhead and prices so low you wonder how they make any money. Such a store is Young Trend, way out on Mound Street, run by two fellows who have low expenses, who are working long hours to offer their customers good, long wearing, beautiful carpets at a fraction of what they would cost
from the fancy big city stores.

These fellows want your business, are real pleased when they get it, and try to give you the finest job possible to make your home beautiful.
Shop around and compare and you'll know how much you really can save on better carpets at Young Trend.

See
BOB GRIFFITH OR AL HOFFMAN
To Save $2 to $5 Yard
During This Sale!

Some people ask about the fact Young
Trend is only open from 3 to 8:30 so we'll explain. This is one of the ways they save expenses to save you money on your carpets.
Each morning at 8:30 Young Trend's
truck is loaded with carpet and Bob and
Al are out installing carpet to beautify
one of their customers home. Carpet is installed until 3 when the store opens for selling. This saves the price of several clerks keeping the store open these extra hours and it saves you money. On Wednesday it is a dead day in Circleville, so rather than sit around the store and twiddle their thumbs, Bob and Al are out laying carpets and keep the store closed
that day. It all adds up to your benefit.

U.S. Steel Boost Prices; Blow Dealt to LBJ Hopes

Bulletin
NEW YORK (AP) — Bethlehem Steel Corp., which this week announced across the board price increases, announced today it was revising its prices downward.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — U.S. Steel Corp., which usually sets the pace for steel prices across the nation, announced more price hikes today on certain products.

The nation's biggest steel producer, which had announced hikes in tin mill products and structural steel items several days ago, posted new prices on four new items.

The announcement came in the face of opposition by President Johnson, who had asked the steel industry to hold the line on price increases. The White House aides had said during the weekend that a stand-pat position on prices by U.S. Steel was one of the President's big hopes.

In announcing price hikes ranging from 4.50 to $8.00 a ton on carbon and high-strength, low-alloy steels and construction full alloy steels today, U.S. Steel said:

"To repeat, steel prices are not the cause of inflation. This is now almost, but not quite, universally recognized."

U.S. Steel said the price changes, "if applied industry-wide and taking into account price changes by U.S. Steel since the labor settlement July 30, would mean an aggregate change of about 2½ per cent or $4.30 per ton on all steel sales."

At the same time, the company said it does not intend changing prices on a long list of other products, including such items as semi-finished steel, steel for shells, sheet piling, rails, tubular product including bomb pipe, galvanized and other coated sheets, wires, or stainless steel.

The steel price controversy entered its critical period today with industry and government sources saying if there is no retreat by Thursday, there probably won't be any for weeks — if at all.

This prediction was based by well informed sources on two factors: Evidence the industry is feeling government pressure and the fact the key Bethlehem Steel Corp. price hikes take effect Thursday.

Bethlehem, the No. 2 producer, and Pittsburgh Steel, No. 14, issued unsolicited announcements Tuesday pointing out that their price hikes did not include defense materials.

"That's not the behavior of an industry at peace with itself," said a government source close to the situation.

This source also pointed to the effective date of the Bethlehem increase and said, "If they're going to avoid getting locked in they'll have to move by then."

Industry sources agree, pointing out that by tradition differences in prices are resolved before they become effective.

"One company can't be out of line or nobody would go to it," said one key source.

Should Bethlehem leave its 4.5 per cent wide-ranging hike on mill prices intact after midnight, a customer receiving steel would have to pay the new price even if the company rolled it back a few hours or days later.

"The bookkeeping alone would be monumental," said the industry source.

Bethlehem Steel announced the broadest increase in steel prices since 1962 last Wednesday, only hours after the industry reached agreement with the United Steelworkers on a new labor contract.

Other big producers followed suit, but some announced only selective increases.

Nursing Home Planned for Greenfield

A firm named Greenfield Medical Associates, Inc., announced plans for construction of a 60-bed nursing or convalescent home in Greenfield, O.

Members of the corporation are Dr. Arthur Cohen of Columbus; Frank Cossu, chief laboratory technician at Greenfield Municipal Hospital; and Drs. Glenn B. Doan and Walter Felson.

Construction of the one-story brick building is to start early in September and is to be completed by April of next year. Estimated cost of the structure and its equipment is $350,000.

The building will be erected on a four acre plot owned by the firm and reportedly will employ an estimated 33 persons.

Very Light Docket at Muny Court

Summer is a slow period for most organizations and Municipal Court is no exception. During Tuesday's session of the court only two traffic offenders were scheduled to appear before the bench of Judge Sterling Lamb. Both men forfeited their bonds rather than appear.

The local man, Robert Rehberry, 20, Ashville, was charged with failure to obey a stop sign. His forfeited bond was $24.

areas of the heart present a confusing picture on electronic equipment monitoring the heart beat, possibly sending signals overlapping the latest trouble. But doctors at Walter Reed Hospital, where the general suffered the latest attack at 6:15 a.m., said: "Any individual who has sustained a recent infraction is considered to be seriously ill."

The doctors described the attack as probably a myocardial infraction, or blocking of blood flow in the heart by a blood clot or fatty deposits in the bloodstream.

Doctors said electronic equipment was keeping tabs continually on Eisenhower's metabolism. He was on a low salt, liquid diet.

Visitors were restricted to the immediate family. Doctors said his wife, Mamie, visited him often. His son, John, and granddaughter flew here from The Republican National Convention at Miami Beach.

"The doctors thought the situation was serious enough that I should be here," said John. "When the boss is in trouble I come."

At the convention, former presidential candidate Thomas E. Dewey asked from the podium that delegates pray for Eisenhower's swift recovery.

The attack came Tuesday less than 12 hours after Eisenhower addressed the convention from the hospital via a nationwide television hookup.

Poor People's Marchers Get GOP Convention Seats

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A creaking covered wagon hauled by two black mules and escorted by more than 70 denim-clad Negroes dripping with perspiration stopped Tuesday at the door of the Fontainebleau Hotel.

The Poor People's Campaign contingent, led by the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, picked this symbol of opulence along the Florida Gold Coast to launch efforts for a hearing by the Republican National Convention.

Abernathy led the group inside the gold-leafed, marble lobby where the chanting demonstrators confronted confused convention delegates and worried hotel staff members.

One of the chants went: "I may not stay in a hotel, but I am somebody—may not be a candidate, but I am somebody—I am a child of God."

Then, after a traffic-snarl march of more than a mile, the demonstrators arrived at Convention Hall. Abernathy obtained tickets to take his self-proclaimed "51st State of Hunger" past the fences and cordons of police.

While the people went inside, the mules were taken back to their stalls.

About 50 of the demonstrators sat quietly in the hall and listened as Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois presented the party platform.

Outside the hall, about 1,000 aging residents of the Miami Beach retirement neighborhoods carried signs reading: "GOP—Don't Forget Your Parents" and "Social Security No Longer Offers Us Security."

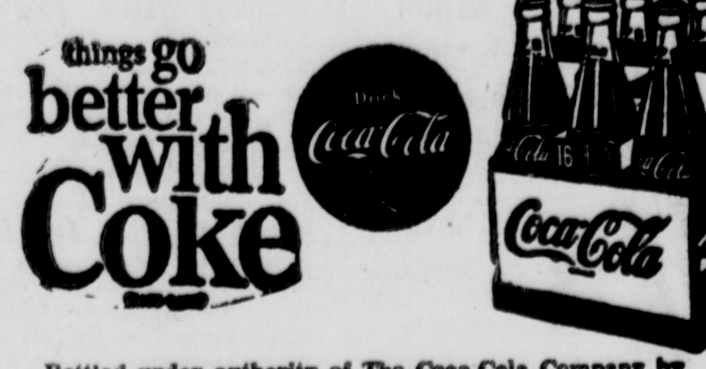

After Abernathy's followers were given tickets to the convention, Abernathy said he wanted to address the delegates. That request was not answered.

Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois said he supplied Abernathy two of the scarce tickets for admission to Convention Hall. Minutes later Abernathy said he had received 50 tickets from Ray C. Bliss, the Republican national chairman, through the help of Rep. Ogden R. Reid of New York and Clarence Townes, chairman of the GOP minorities committee.

The tickets were good only Tuesday but Reid said, "We'll make them good every day."

of Pennsylvania had the word that Rockefeller's the man. Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, former U.S. treasurer, was chosen to lead Reagan.

Inside the hall, delegates roared their approval of a 13,000-word platform endorsed in advance by all three top contenders.

Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen, chairman of the convention Platform Committee, hailed the document as providing programs that will rescue "an outraged, heartbroken, shocked America" in a time of need.

The platform contains planks calling for a "de-Americanization" of the Vietnam war and the elimination of crime and violence.

As tonight's balloting neared, a group of favorite sons more or less controlled 193 votes.

Rockefeller and Reagan hope to stop Nixon through these votes. But there were rumblings of discontent in these areas.

Reagan appeared to have put down an incipient rebellion in his own 88-vote delegation. He sent Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch, a Nixon campaign manager in 1960, packing off to California on state business.

Finch had raised the issue of whether Reagan's decision to become an active candidate had lifted the primary election commitment of state delegates to support the governor on the first ballot.

Former Sen. William F. Knowland, a member of the delegation, said there will be no defections from Reagan at the end of the formal balloting.

In the Michigan delegation supporting favorite son Gov. George Romney, Nixon's state manager, Emil Lockwood, said he may try to break away to the former vice president if he is close to the nomination at the end of the initial roll call. He said he thinks at least 13 would vote for Nixon then.

The 58-vote Ohio delegation stuck by plans for a formal offering of Gov. James A. Rhodes as a favorite son candidate of the state's votes. But if Nixon came very close in the count, there was no assurance this group would remain intact.

The 40-vote New Jersey delegation, operating under the banner of Sen. Clifford P. Case as a favorite son, called a caucus amid increasing pressure of Nixon's supporters to break it apart.

U.S. Steel Boost Prices; Blow Dealt to LBJ Hopes

Bulletin
NEW YORK (AP) — Bethlehem Steel Corp., which this week announced across the board price increases, announced today it was revising its prices downward.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — U.S. Steel Corp., which usually sets the pace for steel prices across the nation, announced more price hikes today on certain products.

The nation's biggest steel producer, which had announced hikes in tin mill products and structural steel items several days ago, posted new prices on four new items.

The announcement came in the face of opposition by President Johnson, who had asked the steel industry to hold the line on price increases. The White House aides has said during the weekend that a stand-pat position on prices by U.S. Steel was one of the President's big hopes.

In announcing price hikes ranging from 4.50 to $8.00 a ton on carbon and high-strength, low-alloy steels and construction full alloy steels today, U.S. Steel said:

"To repeat, steel prices are not the cause of inflation. This is now almost, but not quite, universally recognized."

U.S. Steel said the price changes, "if applied industry-wide and taking into account price changes by U.S. Steel since the labor settlement July 30, would mean an aggregate change of about 2 1/2 per cent or $4.30 per ton on all steel sales."

At the same time, the company said it does not intend changing prices on a long list of other products, including such items as semi-finished steel, steel for shells, sheet piling, rails, tubular product including bomb pipe, galvanized and other coated sheets, wires, or stainless steel.

The steel-price controversy entered its critical period today with industry and government sources saying if there is no retreat by Thursday, there probably won't be any for weeks — if at all.

This prediction was based by well informed sources on two factors: Evidence the industry is feeling government pressure and the fact the key Bethlehem Steel Corp. price hikes take effect Thursday.

Bethlehem, the No. 2 producer, and Pittsburgh Steel, No. 14, issued unsolicited announcements Tuesday pointing out that their price hikes did not include defense materials.

"That's not the behavior of an industry at peace with itself," said a government source close to the situation.

This source also pointed to the effective date of the Bethlehem increase and said, "If they're going to avoid getting locked in they'll have to move by then."

Industry sources agree, pointing out that by tradition differences in prices are resolved before they become effective.

"One company can't be out of line or nobody would go to it," said one key source.

Should Bethlehem leave its 4.5 per cent wide-ranging hike on mill prices intact after midnight, a customer receiving steel would have to pay the new price even if the company rolled it back a few hours or days later.

"The bookkeeping alone would be monumental," said the industry source.

Bethlehem Steel announced the broadest increase in steel prices since 1962 last Wednesday, only hours after the industry reached agreement with the United Steelworkers on a new labor contract.

Other big producers followed suit, but some announced only selective increases.

Nursing Home Planned for Greenfield

Construction of the one-story brick building is to start early in September and is to be completed by April of next year. Estimated cost of the structure and its equipment is $350,000.

The building will be erected on a four acre plot owned by the firm and reportedly will employ an estimated 33 persons.

Very Light Docket at Muny Court

Summer is a slow period for most organizations and Municipal Court is no exception.

During Tuesday's session of the court only two traffic offenders were scheduled to appear before the bench of Judge Sterling Lamb. Both men forfeited their bonds rather than appear.

The local man, Robert Rehberry, 20, Ashville, was charged with failure to obey a stop sign. His forfeited bond was $24.

areas of the heart present a confusing picture on electronic equipment monitoring the heart beat, possibly sending signals overlapping the latest trouble.

But doctors at Walter Reed Hospital, where the general suffered the latest attack at 6:15 a.m., said: "Any individual who has sustained a recent infraction is considered to be seriously ill."

The doctors described the attack as probably a myocardial infraction, or blocking of blood flow in the heart by a blood clot or fatty deposits in the bloodstream.

Doctors said electronic equipment was keeping tabs continually on Eisenhower's metabolism. He was on a low salt, liquid diet.

Visitors were restricted to the immediate family. Doctors said his wife, Mamie, visited him often. His son, John, and granddaughter flew here from The Republican National Convention at Miami Beach.

"The doctors thought the situation was serious enough that I should be here," said John. "When the boss is in trouble I come."

At the convention, former presidential candidate Thomas E. Dewey asked from the podium that delegates pray for Eisenhower's swift recovery.

The attack came Tuesday less than 12 hours after Eisenhower addressed the convention from the hospital via a nationwide television hookup.

Poor People's Marchers Get GOP Convention Seats

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A creaking covered wagon hauled by two black mules and escorted by more than 70 denim-clad Negroes dripping with perspiration stopped Tuesday at the door of the Fontainebleau Hotel.

The Poor People's Campaign contingent, led by the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, picked this symbol of opulence along the Florida Gold Coast to launch efforts for a hearing by the Republican National Convention.

Abernathy led the group inside the gold-leafed, marble lobby where the chanting demonstrators confronted confused convention delegates and worried hotel staff members.

One of the chants went: "I may not stay in a hotel, but I am somebody—may not be a candidate, but I am somebody—I am a child of God."

Then, after a traffic-snarl march of more than a mile, the demonstrators arrived at Convention Hall. Abernathy obtained tickets to take his self-proclaimed "51st State of Hunger" past the fences and corridors of police.

While the people went inside, the mules were taken back to their stalls.

About 50 of the demonstrators sat quietly in the hall and listened as Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois presented the party platform.

Outside the hall, about 1,000 aging residents of the Miami Beach retirement neighborhoods carried signs reading: "GOP—Don't Forget Your Parents" and "Social Security No Longer Offers Us Security."

After Abernathy's followers were given tickets to the convention, Abernathy said he wanted to address the delegates. That request was not answered.

Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois said he supplied Abernathy two of the scarce tickets for admission to Convention Hall. Minutes later Abernathy said he had received 50 tickets from Ray C. Bliss, the Republican national chairman, through the help of Rep. Ogden R. Reid of New York and Clarence Townes, chairman of the GOP minorities committee.

The tickets were good only Tuesday but Reid said, "We'll make them good every day."

of Pennsylvania had the word that Rockefeller's the man. Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, former U.S. treasurer, was chosen to lead Reagan.

Inside the hall, delegates roared their approval of a 13,000-word platform endorsed in advance by all three top contenders.

Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen, chairman of the convention Platform Committee, hailed the document as providing programs that will rescue "an outraged, heartbroken, shocked America" in a time of need.

The platform contains planks calling for a "de-Americanization" of the Vietnam war and the elimination of crime and violence.

As tonight's balloting neared, a group of favorite sons more or less controlled 193 votes.

Rockefeller and Reagan hope to stop Nixon through these votes. But there were rumblings of discontent in these areas.

Reagan appeared to have put down an incipient rebellion in his own 86-vote delegation. He sent Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch, a Nixon campaign manager in 1960, packing off to California on state business.

Finch had raised the issue of whether Reagan's decision to become an active candidate had lifted the primary election commitment of state delegates to support the governor on the first ballot.

Former Sen. William F. Knowland, a member of the delegation, said there will be no defections from Reagan at the end of the formal balloting.

In the Michigan delegation supporting favorite son Gov. George Romney, Nixon's state manager, Emil Lockwood, said he may try to break away to the former vice president if he is close to the nomination at the end of the initial roll call. He said he thinks at least 13 would vote for Nixon then.

The 58-vote Ohio delegation stuck by plans for a formal offering of Gov. James A. Rhodes as the state's votes. But if Nixon came very close in the count, there was no assurance this group would remain intact.

The 40-vote New Jersey delegation, operating under the banner of Sen. Clifford P. Case as a favorite son, called a caucus amid increasing pressure of Nixon's supporters to break it apart.
